the Same, We're "On the Move"

A new year: new classes, new teachers, and new feelings . . . feelings of reaching out and being on the move.

We have spirit in our hearts, on our minds, and yes . . . even in the toilets. Our theme is "go for it" and we're doing just that!

School Starts Early for Some Chieftains

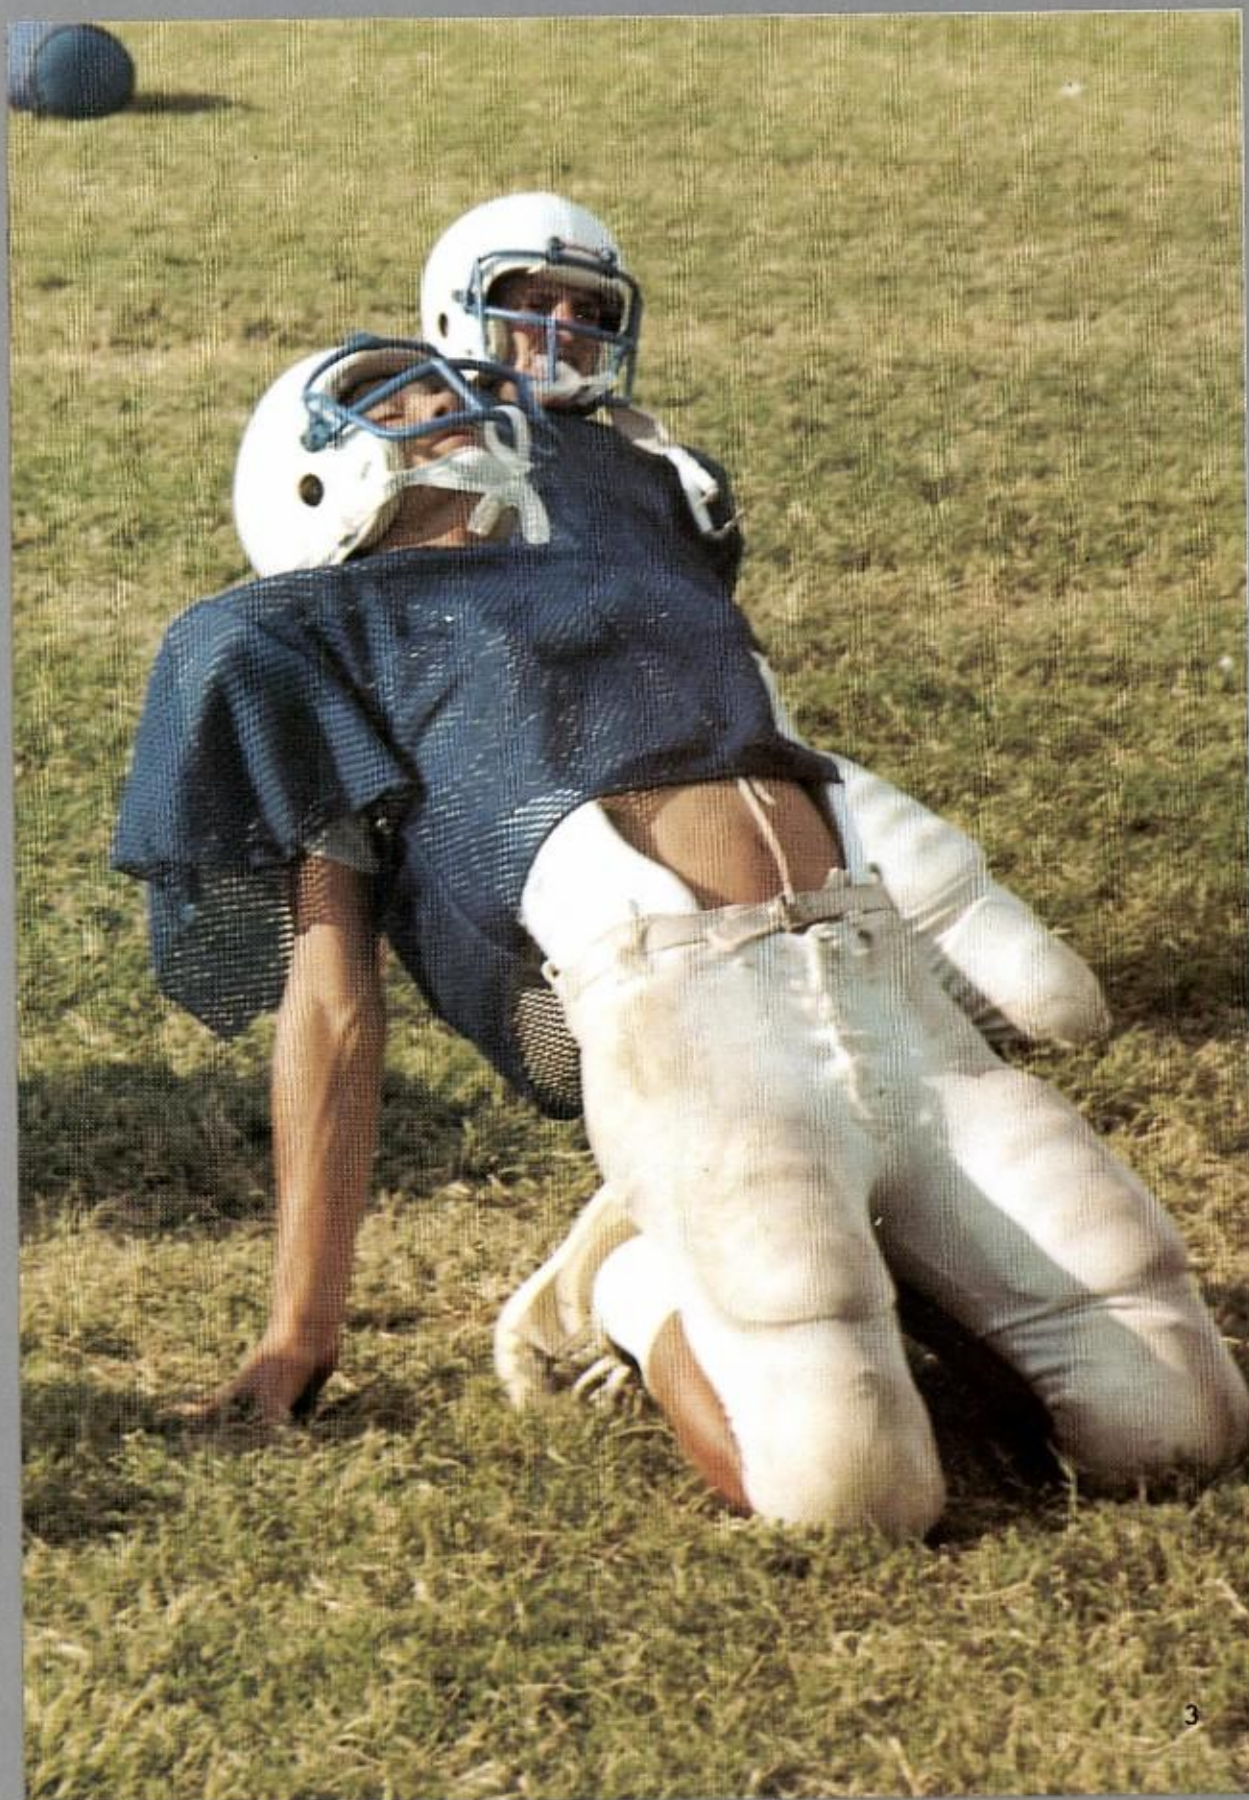

While the rest of us had three months of gloriously basking in the sun and sipping on diet colas, others were limited to only two.

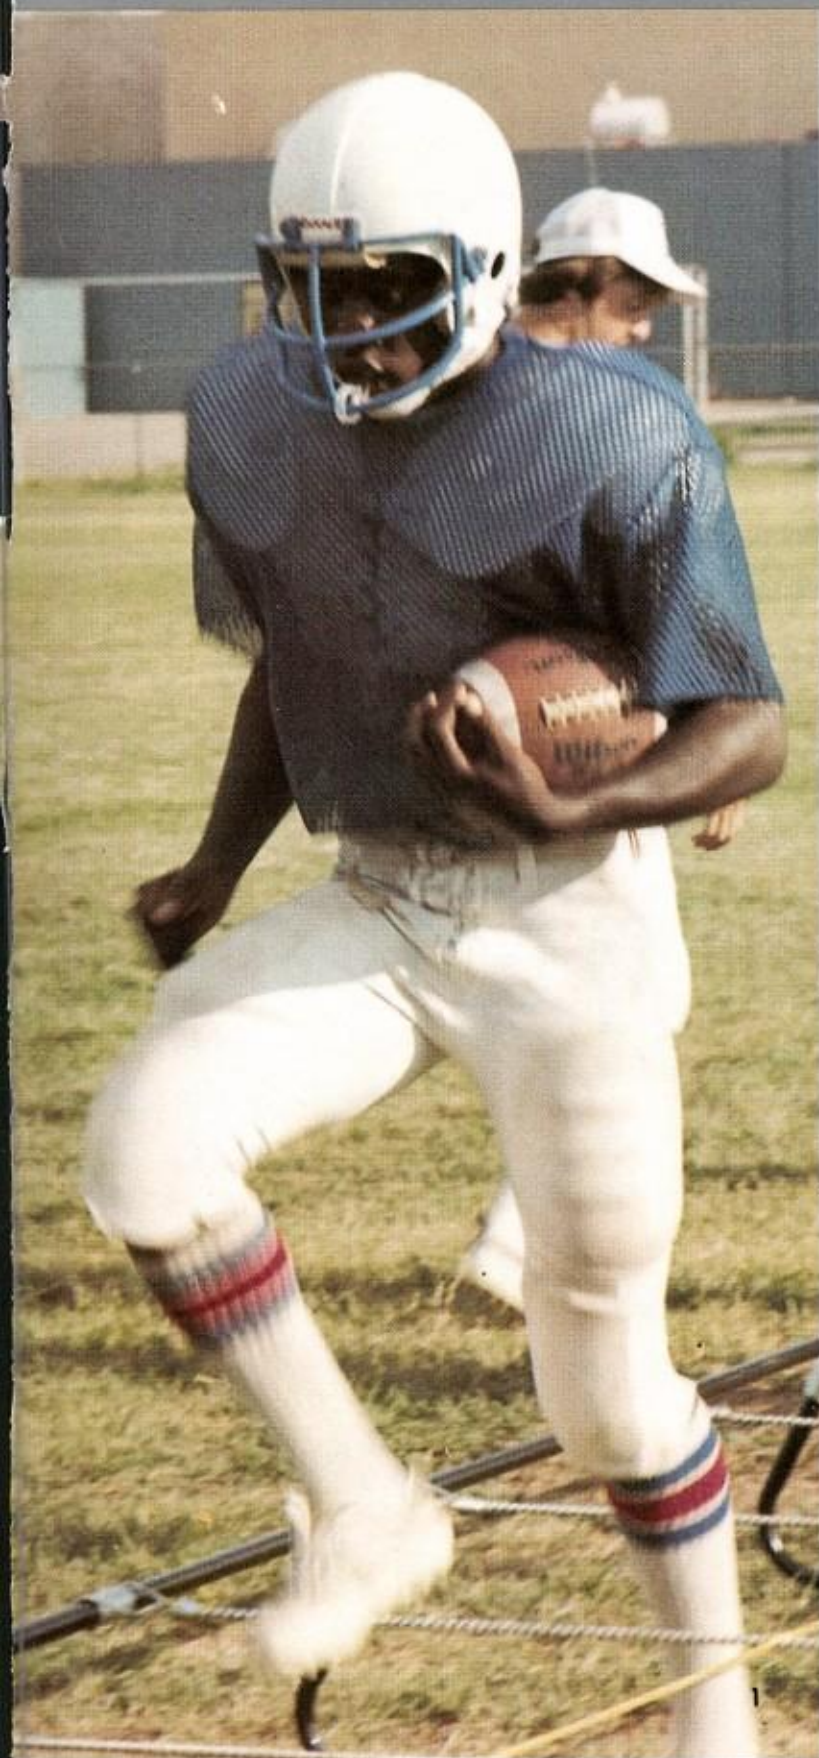

These were our own Chieftains, Chiefettes and band. While we lounged around watching our favorite soap opera or baseball game, these poor souls had their noses to the grindstone.

The Chieftain band began dreaded two-a-days Aug. 10. From 10 a.m. until noon and 6 p.m. until 8 p.m., they readied themselves for the "real" training which started the first day of school.

The Chiefettes, cheerleaders and band began their tedious practices Aug. 17. Hands were full learning old cheers, new yells, and marching routines.

But these hours of practice fused together to form a good school year, and as the theme said "Go for it,"; they went for it.

Changing... We Are Movin' On

We are constantly on the move towards something we don't really know the contents of until we reach it. So what are we waiting for? Everyone gets in the act from the teachers to the students. Things change so fast, it's a bit dizzying, but we kept on top and made it this far.

With Student Life

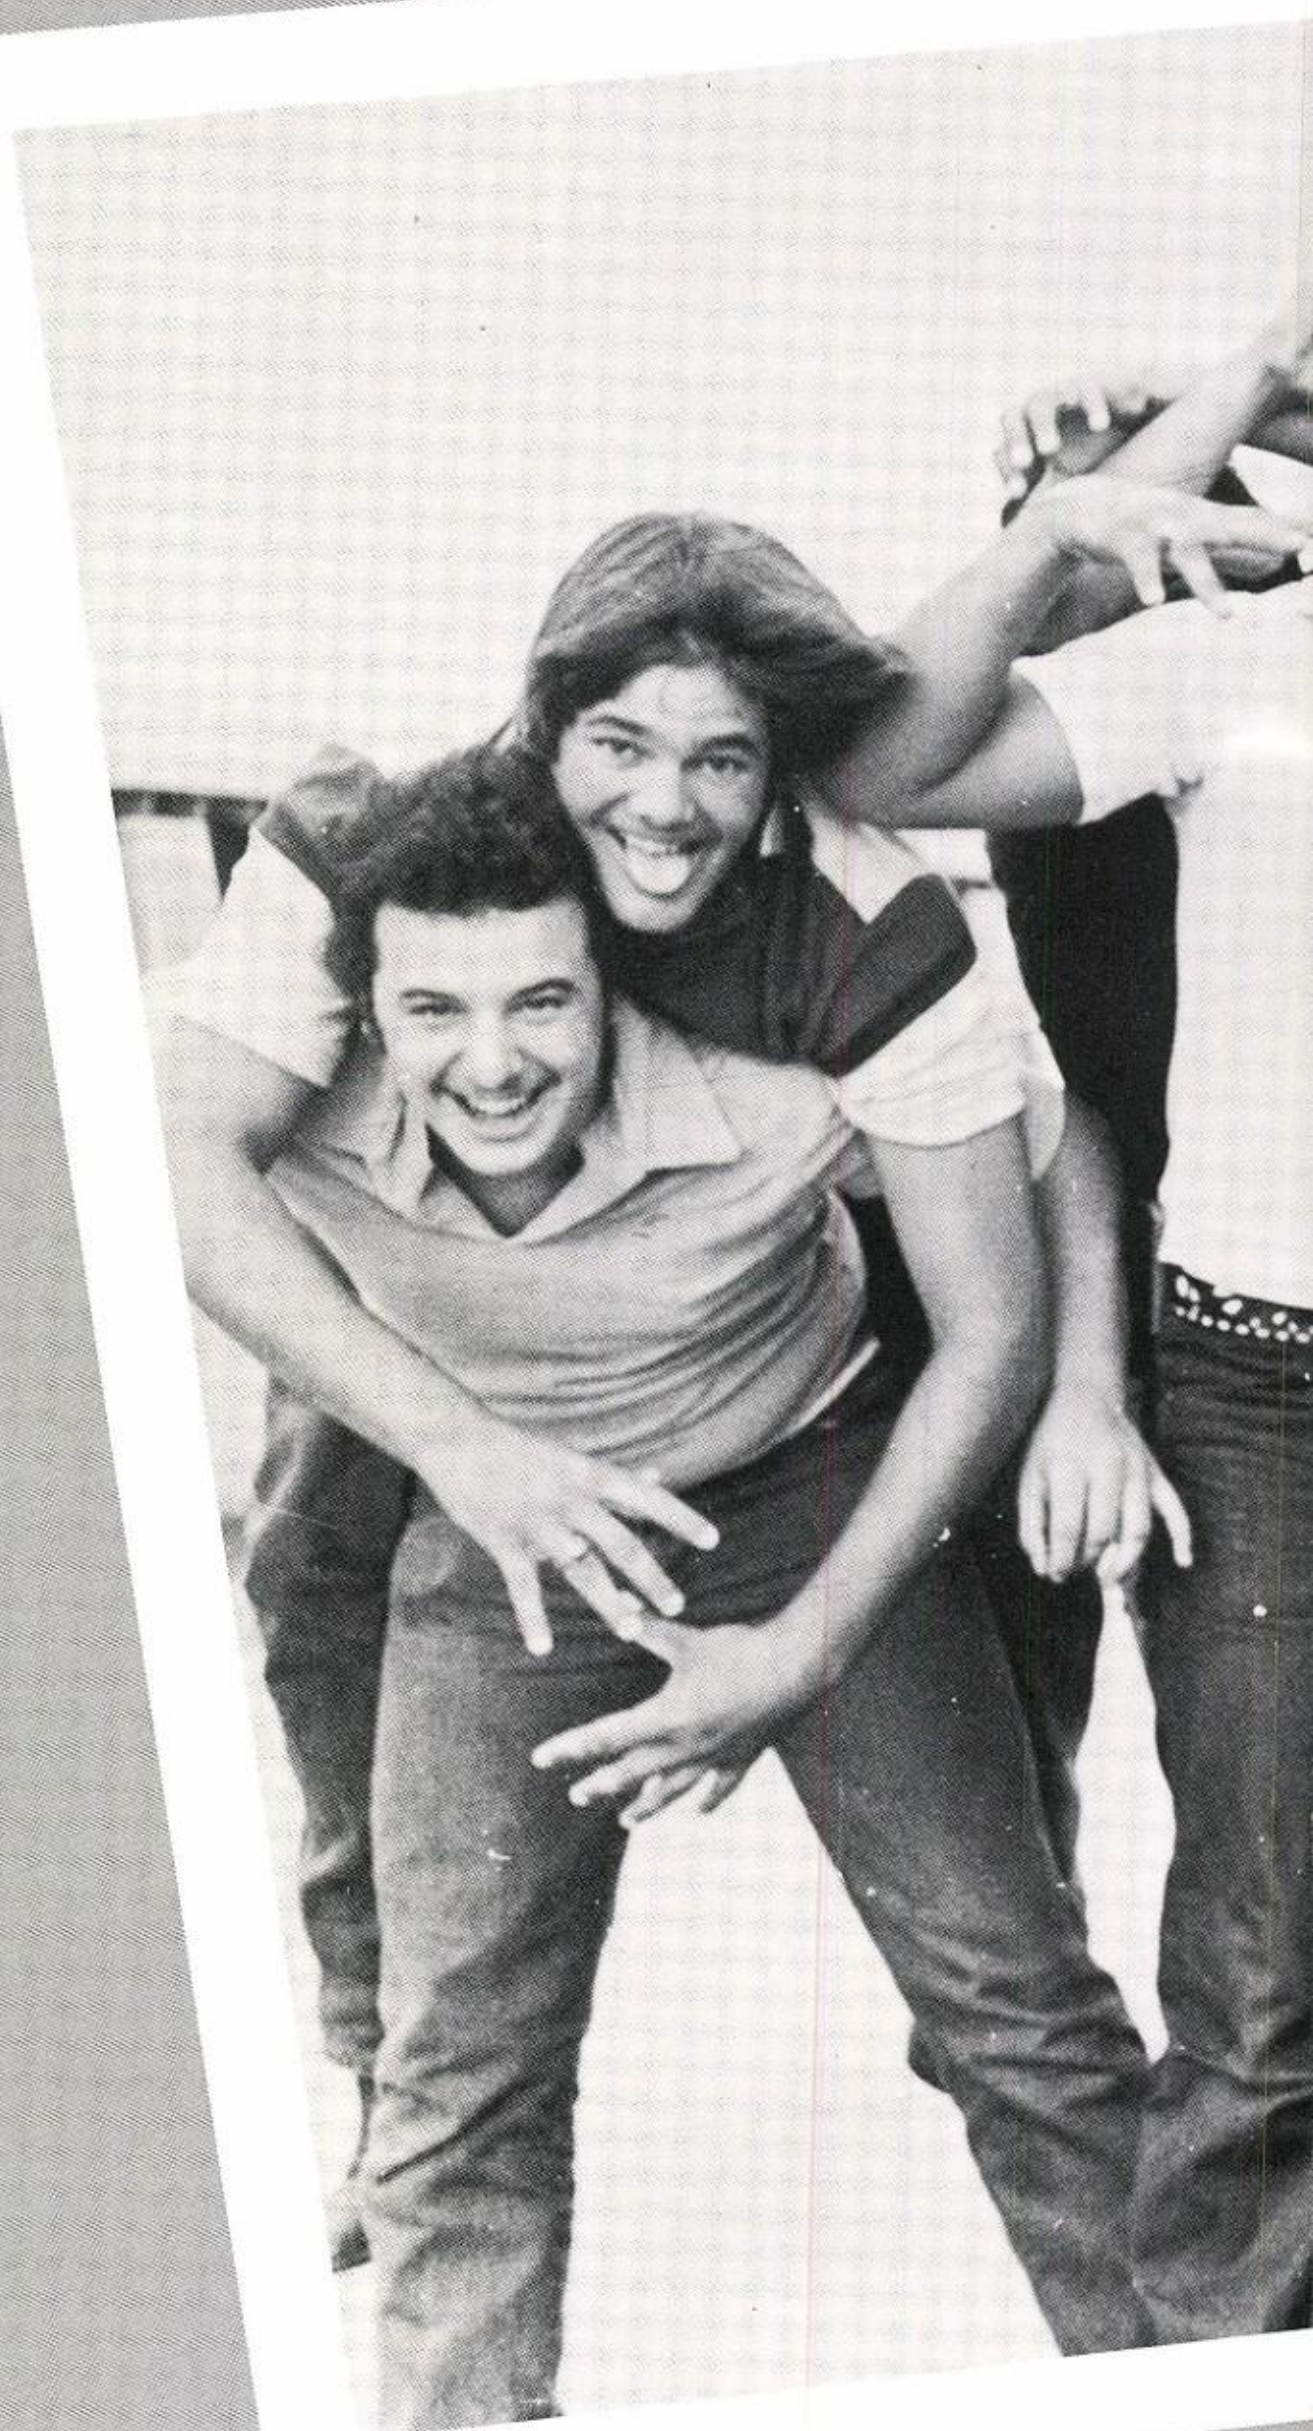

School is a time for enrichment, responsibility, and serious studying. But every so often, being crazy sure helps.

One of the best features of a yearbook is not its scholastic achievements but the memories echoing through the pages — No matter what, we keep going, growing, and grabbing life by the tail.

Is There Life After 3 p.m.?

Boys fidgeting in their seats, girls straining to catch a look at the clock, feet shuffling in the aisle: what is this curious affliction?

It is most commonly called the "Three O'Clock Bell Syndrome." There are other things besides study in a student's life, a fact often overlooked by parents and teachers.

Life does not end at the end of a school day; there does not ever seem to be any mention of all that goes on afterwards. There is football, volleyball and basketball practice . . . Chiefette, drama, and band rehearsal . . . and for some poor souls: jobs to go to.

Between all this constant running around and duties, not to mention our social activities, time and a tank of gas are short. Most students have a reliable ole dad they can depend on to bum a little money off of, but for some, lunch must be given up for the sake of a football game, booster club, or a party.

With all this scurrying around and problems we teenagers have, it's a wonder we make it from day to day, huh?

Homecoming 1981 . . .

All the Work Pays Off!

The week set aside for the Homecoming activities is the most exciting event of the school year. The glamour of Homecoming is the big pleasure students have to look forward to. Instead of reading, writing, and arithmetic, the students are faced with the hilarious challenge of being the craziest, funniest, and most spirited person on campus. The pressure of school is forgotten for just a little while and the students have a chance to really let it all out and have a good time.

From Punk Day to the bonfire, the students never let up. It's hectic, but it's a kind of challenge that everyone enjoys. There is a lot of time spent preparing for Homecoming and all that work eventually pays off. Punk Day and Masquerade Day gave the students their chance to wear the craziest costumes imaginable.

The Bonfire and parade carried on the school spirit by showing the town just how much Lake View had to offer — but it didn't stop there. Homecoming's meaning really came into effect when the Chiefs, through much preparation and training, defeated the Pecos Eagles 28-0. All this, plus the crowning of Jeanine Cahill as Lake View's Homecoming Queen, made the 1981 Homecoming the event to remember.

Students Go "Devo" On Punk Day

Something very strange happened to the student body on October 27. Ordinary, respectable students were turned into orange — haired freaks and the classical blue jeans and T-shirts were replaced by leopard tights and metallic clothing. And even stranger, the administration did not make them go home to change or declare an inter-campus emergency.

This was all acceptable because it was, of course, Punk Day, an event held during homecoming week to determine the wildest and craziest costume and to bring out some school spirit.

Jerri Snider won first place with a prize of $5, Mike Little took second for $4, and Katie Holman won $3 for third. Honorable mentions were given to Letitia Kennedy and Gloria Sanchez. There was laughter everywhere and one left with a feeling of fun and that maybe there were some pretty strange people at LVHS. Devo, anyone??

Halloween Spooks Fun

What is it about the month of October that seems to bring out the weirdos in us all? Well, Halloween, of course! A time to let out all secret fantasies and assorted quirks and be considered normal.

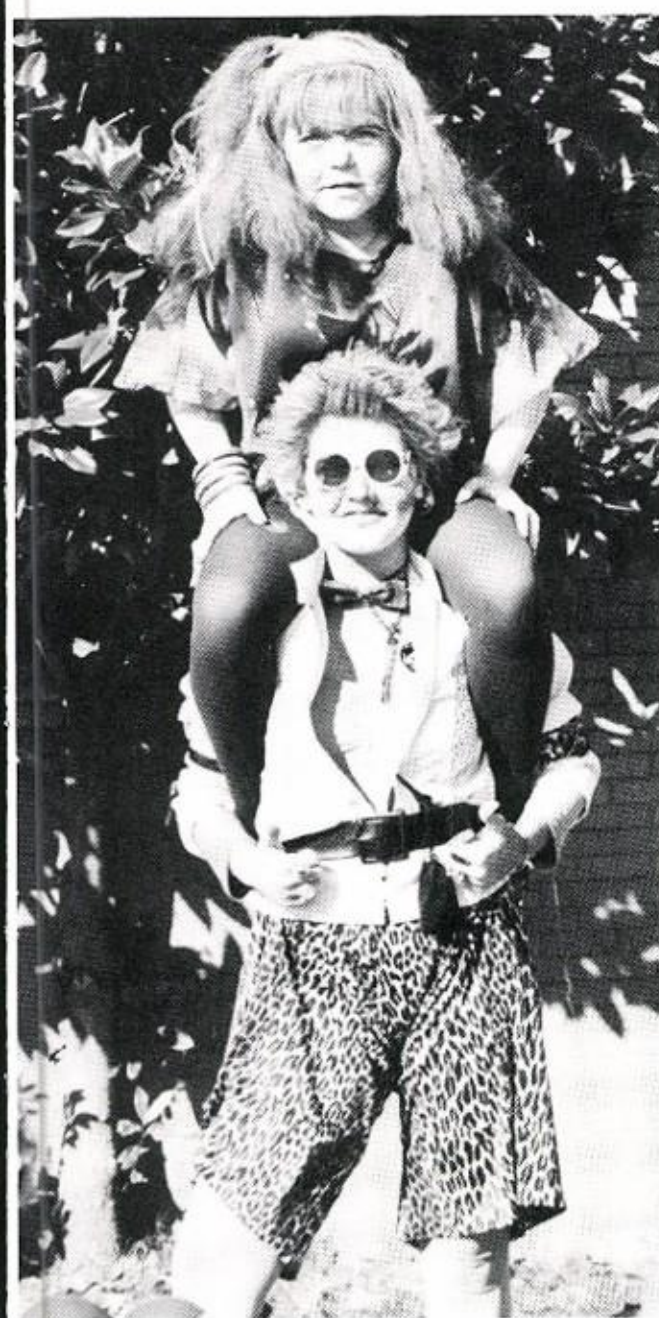

On Wednesday, October 28, housewives, firemen, cowboys, and a vast array of space creatures never figured out were seen walking down the halls of LV. Now to any normal person this might have seemed a little out of the ordinary but the students were just taking part in Halloween Day.

Every costume imaginable was present and the students were judged on their originality and downright silliness and awarded cash prizes.

A first place prize of $5 was presented to Eric Thompson for his version of Gene Simmons. Scott Hoelscher took second and $4 with his sweet old maid costume and Lisa Bias came in third for $3 for her creature costume.

A lot of laughs and a little foolishness made this a Halloween Day to remember and to outdo next year.

Huge Bonfire Sparks Excitement

The announcer said, "It's time for the bonfire ceremonies to begin!" The wind screamed and reserved excitement was felt in the air.

The fire was burning — burning the memories of the past. The band played, the fans roared, and the heat of the flames wound the crowd up to a spirited frenzy. The anxious supporters had just begun to experience the feeling of Homecoming '81.

The annual parade was held seconds before and the Booster Club took first place for $30, sophomore class won $20 for second place, and FFA took third for $10. Honorable mentions were given to DECA and the freshman class.

The night wound down with the crowning of Mr. and Miss Flame — Derek Rushing and Katie Holman — and all went home to prepare for the next day's activities: the big game against Andrews.

Legislature Changes Drinking Age

By Joe Yonan

High school campuses and alcohol seem to mix worse than oil and water, or, that's what the Texas State Legislature thinks. Keeping the two apart was the main objective of the law effective Sept. 1 of last year raising the Texas drinking age from 18 to 19.

"It's definitely helped us," said Mr. Bob Meek, assistant principal. He said that there was a slight problem with students coming back from lunch with alcohol before the law was passed, but now there is little or no problem.

According to Mr. Jim Smith, a police officer at the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, possession of alcohol on public school grounds is illegal and a Class C misdemeanor, no matter how old the person is or if the person is a student or not. He said he disagrees with students using the fact that they disagree with the law to justify their own illegal drinking.

"If you don't like a law, you don't violate it," Mr. Smith said, "you work politically to change it."

Senator Bill Sarpalius didn't agree with the 18-year-old age limit in Texas, so he introduced a bill to raise it to 19. The bill passed, taking effect on Sept. 1, also leaving only 10 states with a minimum drinking age as low as 18.

According to representatives from local liquor stores, many teens under 19 still try to buy alcohol, but most stores check only driver's licenses to eliminate the possibility of fake identification. A worker at Pinkie's liquor store said the law has negatively affected their business considerably, but workers at Roy's liquor store and Party Barn said that not much change has been noticed.

Whether youth agree with the law or not, they should consider long-term consequences, according to Mr. Meek, and not be short-sighted. His main concern was that drinking among seniors might have a negative influence on the underclassmen.

"The less amount of exposure they have to beer or drugs," Mr. Meek said, "the less likely they are to become involved in it."

BY REPERTORY GROUP

'Teddy Roosevelt' Brought to Campus

A team of six professional actors visited Lake View Nov. 24 and left a very pleased audience one hour later. These were the members of a group calling itself the Performing Arts Repertory Theatre, sponsored by the Concho Valley Arts Council.

The play was a light musical based on the life of former president, Teddy Roosevelt. "It was a supreme pleasure, and just seeing the satisfaction on the kids' faces was enough for me," said Mrs. Pam Cotton, a member of CVAC.

The CVAC sponsored the program, contributing $1000 along with $500 apiece from Lake View and Central high schools, "but well worth it," chimed in one student.

The group of actors spend three months on the road with an average of nine shows a week, up to two shows a day.

"It's not as romantic as it seems," said Larry Onison, one of the actors. "The heat of the lights really can get to you."

Ms. Anne Ennis, a native New Yorker of the troupe, admitted, "It's nice to see so many people and places, but I do miss my family and friends." So goes the life of an actor.

Stars Come Out for Pantomime Concert

By Cindy Martinez

Time passed slowly for the concert to start. People were coming from every direction in the auditorium to see their favorite stars perform. Excitement was in the air, and the suspense of waiting for the show to begin was all worthwhile.

Despite the icy, cold day in February, the stars were determined for the show to go on. Superstars such as Foreigner, Donna Summers, Dolly Parton, and Pat Benatar put on a great show. But it was only Lake View and Lincoln Junior High students who took a few minutes of their time to fill their favorite stars' shoes in the third annual pantomime contest.

The show was sponsored by the speech club and was emceed by Bobby Hart of KIXY and judged by discjockies from KIXY, KTEO, and KBIL.

First place winners of the contest were Drew Whipple, Jerry Young, Jim Sanders, Troy Butts, and Jim McWhorter, with their impersonation of Foreigner singing "Juke Box Hero."

Second place went to Lisa Bias, April Alden, Charlotte Jimerson, and Rhonda Robinson with their performance of "The Streak" by Bobby Winoe.

Placing third was Glenda Bohannon with Oliva Newton-John's hit song "Physical."

Special guest appearances were made by members of the faculty. Mr. Frank White, Mrs. Laura Barizon, and Miss JoAnn Green did their imitations of George Jones, Linda Ronstadt, and Barbara Mandrell.

As the saying goes, the best was left for last, many felt, with Coach Jim Slaughter pantomiming "Numbers" by Bobby Bare.

And then it was all over and the world of fantasy once more changed into the world of reality . . . and icy streets . . . and homework . . . and another ordinary day.

Video Craze Strikes —

By Steve Meek

You walk into a lightly darkened room. Immediately, your legs gain control of your body and walk towards their goal. Half your mind says no, but it's already too late. The transformation has begun.

Bystanders watch in amazement as your eyes begin to glow. Then, you quickly reach into your pocket searching. The fingers through course of familiarity know the feel of the object you're searching. Wait, a jagged edge — the size is right — got it. You pull it out without even looking at it and slide it into the slot.

The first stage is over and the second begins. You will roll up your sleeves, attain your favorite stance and push the one-player button. The back hunches and the legs tense. The fingers assume their positions as the screen glows to life with various strange sounds accompanying. The madness is in control.

What's so great about electronic video games? Where else can you captain a sleek space-fighter on a mission to save the Earth from the attack of Galaxians, or cruise a sector and defend your humanoids from mutants, pods, and UFO's, or even tear through a force barrier to destroy a floating city while Phoenixes are dive bombing you? It's a world of make-believe where size, intelligence, and sex set no limit on your abilities.

Video games have become a variable boom in the electronics industry with the producers making an estimated 4 billion dollars, (production figure for 1980), while the machines are bringing in 20 billion quarters annually, and increasing.

It all started, though, in 1972, when state courts established nationally that pinball machines were games of skill instead of gambling devices.

Then, in 1973, Pong, an electric variation of table tennis, made its debut on the market. Next, in 1977, the Space Invaders craze hit, bringing to life a full-fledged industry. Finally, in 1979, Asteroids came along and secured the games industry a solid place in the American economic system.

1. The Fireworks store in the mall is displayed. 2. Vincent June, senior, tries his skill at pinball.

Page 33:

1. David Olness, senior, is shown playing a video game.

Games Provide Escape

Though, thought to be a fad, these video games have survived, even surpassing their predecessor, pinball.

But, what is the reason for the addictiveness to these "machines."

According to psychologists, when a kid puts his quarter in the game, it becomes one big ego-trip. His goal becomes to beat the machine. The thrill of having his initials on the high-score board is a driving factor to him and a challenge to others.

No longer is it just for kids. The quarters are coming from adults, too. For adults, it's an escape from reality and a way to relieve tension.

Undoubtedly, this new craze is creating a whole new genre with these "video game athletes" like the defender champ, Steve Juraszek, who played sixteen and a half hours with a final score of 15,963,100, and the Asteroid champ who played 50 hours leading the way. But into each life a little rain must fall. With this new life new afflictions arise; such as Space Invaders' wrist and Pac Man elbow.

The lights come on, the games go off. Your eyes are blood-shot and there are bags under them. The second stage is over and the final has begun. You walk out with an almost zombie-like form. Your face is pale and your pockets are turned inside-out and hanging to your side. You didn't get your initials on today, but there is always tomorrow.

Combining Marriage and School — Making a Lasting Commitment

By Alice Flynn

"Marriage" for many high school students conjures up hazy dreams of a carefree world with easy answers for everything. When the dreams clear away, reality is left; a reality with a fifty-percent divorce rate and a one-third chance of making the marriage work. Two who have chosen to face these odds are Carol Desrosier and Barbara Wolsfeld, seniors.

A reality all teen-age marriages have to face is housing. With rising costs in housing, it is difficult to find apartments within the means of their income. Many times married students end up living with their parents. This is the case with Carol Desrosier and her husband who live with his parents.

"It cuts costs a lot, also it helps with the housework. After school is out we're going to get an apartment. We feel kind of funny sometimes, but every time we talk of moving out his parents give us reasons why we shouldn't," said Carol.

Barbara on the other hand, lives with her husband in their own apartment.

"Bills are the hardest thing to keep up with, but he works full-time and I work part-time so we're pretty okay financially" said Barbara.

Another aspect of student marriages is grades. Working, going to school, and keeping house can sometimes be too much.

"I really get tired, and my grades have dropped a lot. Going to Carver was a lot easier, but it was still hard to keep up with the housework and all. Sometimes I would be up to 1 a.m. doing my housework" said Barbara.

One reason for the failure of many teen-age marriages is that the couples are not ready.

"Young people are really less ready than they think they are," according to Mrs. Beverly Nevins, Home and Family teacher.

"They have no conception as a whole of what marriage really means. It is more than just fun and games. The problem is that some young people realize this too late," pointed out Mrs. Nevins.

"Every person needs a time that they are not responsible for another person except themselves," she added.

Of course some people mature more quickly than others.

"I was really ready for it, there was no reason to wait," says Barbara.

For many people marriage is not in the immediate future, for others it is. Either way, one thing is certain: marriage means commitment and trust.

Home and Family Couples Say 'I do'

The dimly lit library is the scene for a romantic and age-old tradition.

The giggles of the bridesmaids drift with the muffled whispers of the onlookers. The organ music begins and the veiled bride walks down the aisle on the arm of her father to meet the groom. About to receive their vows, they stand before the minister. When all of a sudden, out of this scene of divine union, the groom lets out a suppressed chuckle breaking the stillness like a foghorn.

No, it's not a shotgun wedding, this is the yearly Home and Family class mock wedding, instructed by Mrs. Reba Cost and Mrs. Beverly Nevins.

Every year, each class plans down to the last detail, an elaborate wedding. It is complete with cake, punch, organ, a preacher, and even honest-to-goodness wedding invitations, (omitting the honeymoon, of course).

Before the weddings, real-life situations are gone over: various marital problems, wife abuse, home economics, and one part of a wedding least happily gone over — the divorce. All of this is a necessary and helpful guideline in preparing students for married life.

Photographers attend to take pictures, parents show up, (crying, naturally), and this year even a soloist was there, Sheila Dickey.

One of the happy couples, Drew Whipple and Paula Scarpa, played their parts to the fullest, and putting aside the laughter, the marriage of Randy Elkins and Alcie Clemmons came off very well.

Along with gathering valuable experience, the students have a lot of fun and as for the teachers, well, having five sons and daughters married off every year, year after year, is a harrowing experience for anyone.

VOE Hosts Banquet

The Eleventh Annual Vocational Office Education Employee-Employer Banquet was held Feb. 13 at Angelo State University.

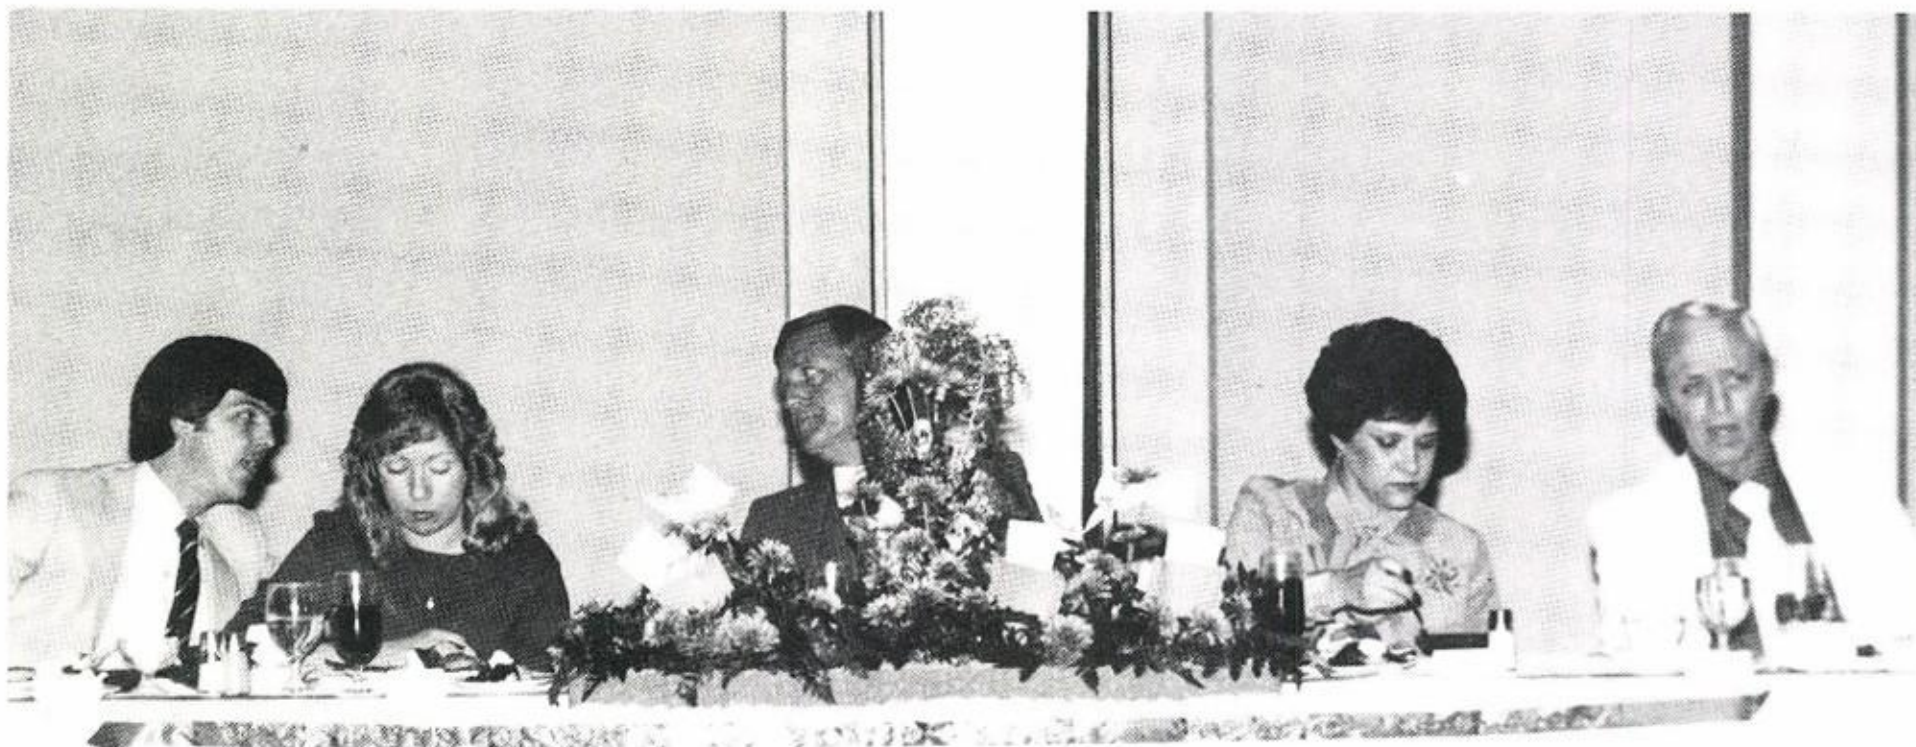

Theme for the occasion was "The Network's Put Green in VOE's Jeans," and owner of Town and Country food stores addressed the gathering.

Theresa Lousignont served as mistress of ceremonies, and both the junior and senior club members did skits to entertain their employers, parents, and friends.

The crowd of about 300 consisting of the employers, parents, members of the administration and friends of the VOE students attended. "The purpose of the banquet was to thank the employers for giving us a chance to learn while we earn," commented Mrs. Barbara Purser, OEA sponsor.

VOE club members had a number of fund-raising activities throughout the year to pay for the banquet. Bake sales and other fundraisers provided the club with $1600.

Addressing the group was Mr. F. L. "Steve" Stephens, co-owner and president of Town and Country Food Stores. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of certificate of appreciation to Mrs. Purser from her VOE students.

People

Today: the Lincoln Jr.

tomorrow: the world. After a hard day at school, one would think the students might like a rest, but they keep moving and doing what they do best. Don't you wish we could do this forever?

Senior Jerry Young and Juniors Troy
Butts and Drew Whipple flash their message "Don't You Wish" as they performed "Juke Box Hero," which won first place in the pantomime contest.

Helle, Monica Exchange Views on USA

By Mary Ann Allen

Two new faces among the senior class are Helle Bruhn and Monica Kristan. They are both foreign exchange students, living with two families in the community.

Bruhn, who is from West Germany, came to the United States with the "Youth for Understanding" exchange program. "I really like Lake view, since I have made so many new friends," says Bruhn.

Her activities in West Germany were going to the disco and "hanging around with my friends," says Bruhn. She enjoys going out with her friends here in the United States also, as a form of entertainment.

The classes to her seem much easier here than in West Germany. One marked difference between the school systems is the emphasis on foreign languages in West Germany. There she became fluent in German, English, Danish, and French.

Current fashions are "another difference that shows up on the fashion scene," said Bruhn.

"Texas is at least two years behind," says Helle.

"Kristan, the other foreign exchange student is from Austria. German is her native language, but she also speaks English and Italian fluently.

During her first semester in the U.S. she went to school in Eldorado, then she moved to San Angelo. "It's a real change from Austrian schools," she said.

Like Bruhn, her favorite pastime in Austria is going to the disco and hanging around with her friends. Here she likes going to the movies and parties.

Kristan feels like the people here are more friendly than in Austria. "I have not made many new friends here at Lake View, but I have many friends in Eldorado."

The exchange program that Kristan came through to the U.S. was the American Field Service (A.F.S.). This program is very hard to get into because of the testing that one must go through. Ten out of every twenty are able to come to the states or other countries as exchange students.

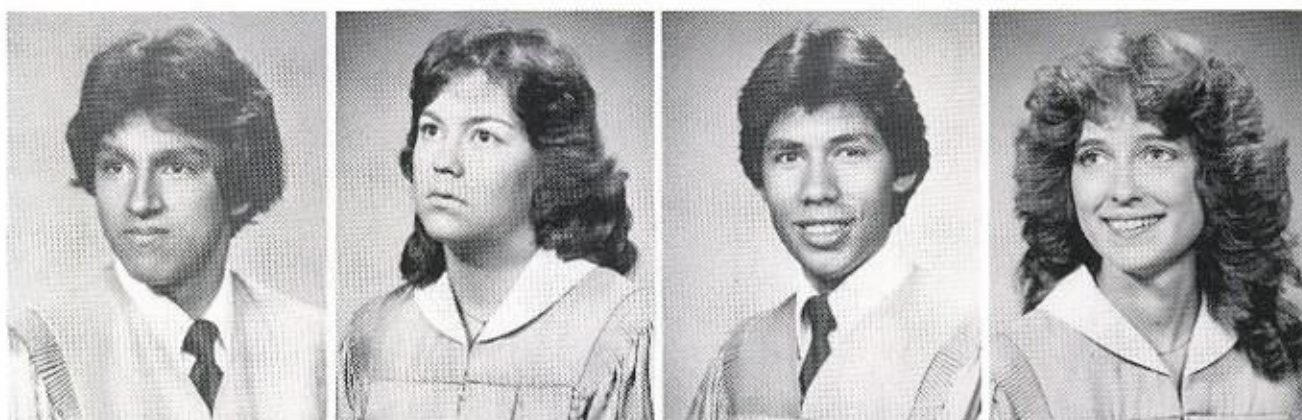

The problems that both exchange students had in common were that they both had to adjust to the weather, customs, and food, which were very different from their own. Food, however proved to be the greatest adjustment . . . each gained 20 pounds.

Most Spirited

This year's recipients of Most Spirited were Jeanine Cahill and Jeff Bozeman. Jeanine was head varsity cheerleader, homecoming queen, vice president of the Student Council, and served on the yearbook staff.

Jeff was active in varsity football, basketball, track, and was also Student Council president.

These two students were elected because according to the senior class, they were the "most spirited," not only in sports, but in everything else as well.

Most Courteous

Elected for their politeness and good manners, the senior class circled the names of Sherry Carroll and Kelly Wilson as "Most Courteous."

Sherry was class secretary, tennis manager, science club secretary, and art club secretary, in which she was very active in this past year.

Kelly was active in Ag and Choir. He is currently the bass guitarest and fiddle player for the popular San Angelo group "Texas Gold."

Country-Pop Group 'Texas Gold'

By Joe Yonan

An age-old complaint of performers and their families has been that they are on the road too long, with no time for any social life.

Even modern-day performers must choose between making top money but being very busy, or working "nine to five" and settling for lower wages. Kelly Wilson and the members of "Texas Gold" are no exception.

At the present time, the group is waiting to hear on a contract. Several record companies in Nashville, Tennessee are bidding on them to see who will produce their future records. They try for a "middle-of-the-road" country/pop sound, Wilson said.

The group is made up of six members, of which Wilson, who plays the bass guitar and fiddle, and Ronna Reeves, the lead vocal, attend high school. Reeves is a 15-year-old freshman who lives in Odessa, and frequently "commutes" to San Angelo to either practice with the group or to perform. The others are either going to college or have attended high school. They are Jay Weatherby, a Central graduate who plays the keyboards and banjo and goes to ASU; Steve Mandile, a Lake View graduate who plays the guitar and also attends ASU; Chris Michelson, a Central graduate who plays the guitar and attends ASU; and drummer Wade Spradley, a Lake View ex, presently attending ASU.

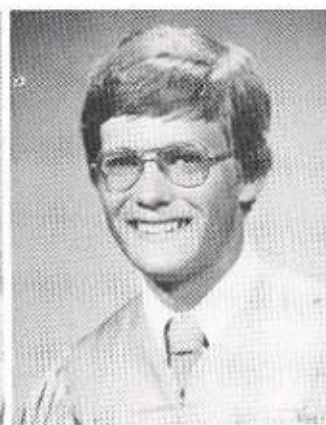

Wilson explained that social life is hard to merge with the life of a performer. He likes making the money, but he says he has to give up a lot of "fun" for it.

"It makes you work harder at home," Wilson said. His grades have gone down a little, he added.

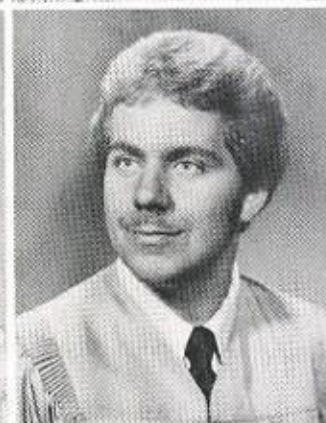

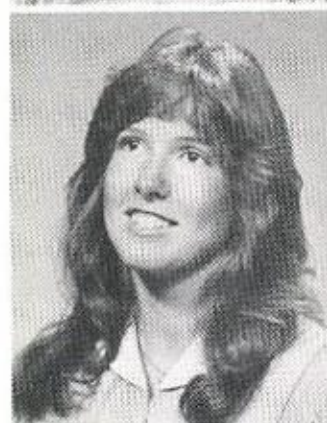

Performing everywhere from big cities like Dallas to not-so-big cities like Grapevine (Texas), the group has recorded eight songs as singles, which should be released in a few months.

Looks to Nashville for Stardom

These were recorded in Nashville, and supervised by the group's manager, Dr. T. Karmen Weatherby, Jay's father. Dr. Weatherby handles their bookings, salaries, and expenses.

Wilson's experience with music began when he started violin lessons in the fifth grade. He was also in the Edison Jr. High Orchestra.

The six musicians have come a long way. Today, they bring in $2000 total for a night's performance, of which each receives 10 percent and the manager 20 percent.

According to Wilson, the money is "good but not steady." The bulk of their income comes from private parties they play around the holiday season. Wilson explained that nervousness is not a problem.

"You don't get nervous when you do good," he said, "You get nervous when you do bad."

When they were recording for two weeks in Nashville, the group went to the Grand Ole Opry and saw such stars as Porter Wagoner, Bill Atkins, and Roy Acuff. They model their sound after performers like Linda Ronstadt, Emylou Harris, and the Eagles. They get advice from professionals, such as one of Kenny Rogers's songwriters. They also talk to performers that come into San Angelo and "exchange ideas."

Wilson explained that their busiest time of year is in December, where "95 % of my social time" is required. Other months are much slower. This pace is what affects Wilson, but he said it sometimes becomes hard to perform often.

"You begin to miss normal things," he said.

Future plans are to record an album, and to keep performing in various towns. They hope for increased popularity when their records are out and their contract is decided. Most importantly, they are constantly growing.

"One day you look up," Wilson said, "and you're not bad."

Friendliest

Saying hellos and waving friendly smiles seems to come easy to Sheila Dickey and Jim Sanders, Lake View's "Friendliest."

Sheila served as Student Council and Chiefette parliamentarian this year. She was not only active in school, but out of school as well. Sheila reached the finals in the "Wrangler Search for the Stars" competition and is a singer for various groups around the San Angelo area.

Jim played varsity football this year, which earned him a spot on the All-District Defensive Team and was recognized in "Who's Who in Texas football." He also served as President of FCA.

Best Dressed

Everything has changed drastically since we have entered the 80's. Cars, music, people and certainly fashion have taken their toll. Dressing with style was the reason the senior class elected Anna Flores and Vincent June, because to them they are the "best dressed" in every sense of the word.

Anna was active in Los Alumnos and the Mexican-American club. Vincent, originally from Baltimore, Maryland, was a "sight to see" on the basketball court and also participated in art.

Looks Like We Made It!

We are the Senior Class of 1982, and we've made it! For 12 years, we've waited for May 28, 1982. The day we would throw away our books, toss our heads back and scream at the top of our lungs, "We've made it!" We have succeeded, we've passed this test and we're ready now to challenge the new tests our lives will bring.

Later on, when we're married, working, or rich and famous, we will look back at this picture and shake our head in remembrance. Those were good times, look at us . . . at least for awhile.

Adios, Lake View. Whatever the language, it still means the same. You were good to us, but we must pack our suitcases, hang up our letter jackets and put away the old high school traditions, because for now we are movin' on. We are on our way . . . this is our escape.

Law, Firefighter Posts Train Teens

By David Englert

Helping at the rodeo and airshow, working with the Emergency Corps, law enforcement agencies and various fire departments, may sound exciting to the majority, but for a small group of San Angelo teenagers, it is a routine.

A part of that group is made up of Lake View students.

These groups are the Law Enforcement Explorers Post 25 and Firefighting Explorer Post 86.

According to Gary Rodgers, advisor of Post 25, "You learn basically all the aspects of law enforcement and the careers in that field."

The members have main control of what the organizations do. Advisors are there as arbitrators and they also try to set up what the posts want to get into.

Post 25 is involved in firearms training, first aid, hunting safety, crime preventions, self-defense, every-day career training and accident assistance.

Post 86 is drawn into fire fighting, first-aid, on-job training, and equipment used in the different kinds of fires and rescues.

Both groups set up community activities. Lake View students involved in Post 25 include, Alice Flynn, senior, David Englert, Charlie Richardson, Scott Farris, and Gary Beckwith, juniors.

A Lake View-Ex, Don Klinger, is the advisor of the firefighting program.

Some of the events Post 25 takes part in are the Stock Show and Rodeo, Annual Air Show, Fiesta Del Concho, and some of the circuses.

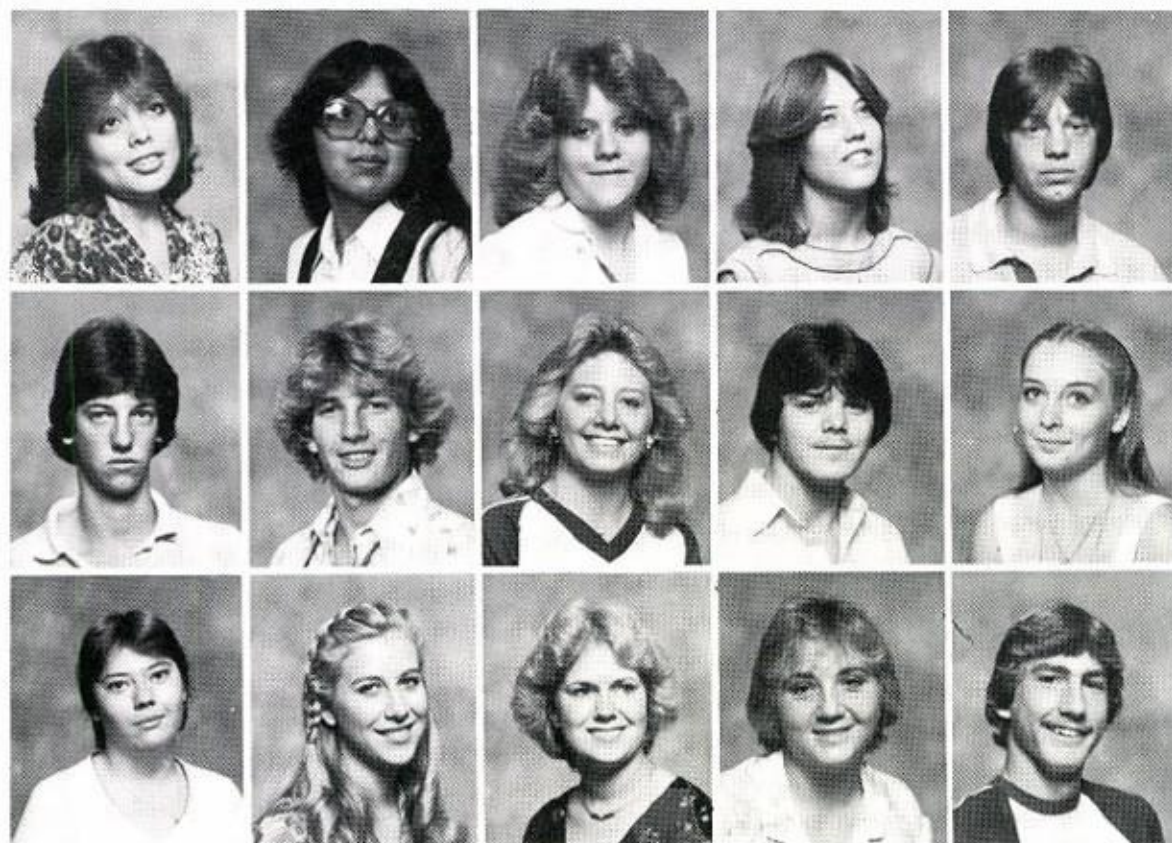

Activities taken in by Fire Fighting explorers include the circus and the Annual Concho Valley Fire Training Conference held in May.

Kenny Klinger of 86, became a member because "I wanted to learn more about the firefighting and emergency medical technician programs. I'm looking forward to the training conference in May." The conference is attended by an average of 300 members of volunteer and professional fire departments from as far as Del Rio.

David Klinger, also of 86 added, "The part I like the most is the on-the-job training."

One of the ex-members of post 25 helped to solve a fatal traffic accident. "We had a hit-and-run where one person was killed, and an explorer opened the door to the case and we got the hit-and-run driver," said Rodgers, also a D.P.S. trooper.

But it is not all adventure, excitement and glory for the explorers. There is always a need for more studying, drilling, and routine training for the unexpected, and when it happens, they will be ready!

Juniors Raise Prom Money

Though sales were low this year on the three biggest fund-raisers: Homecoming mums, the concession stand, and game programs, the participation on the part of the students outnumbered that of previous years.

Mrs. Reba Cost in charge of the mum sales, contributed their loss (some two-thirds less than last year) to the heavy competition from other floral shops in town. Sales lasted for a week with an extension of two days and proceeds went to the class fund.

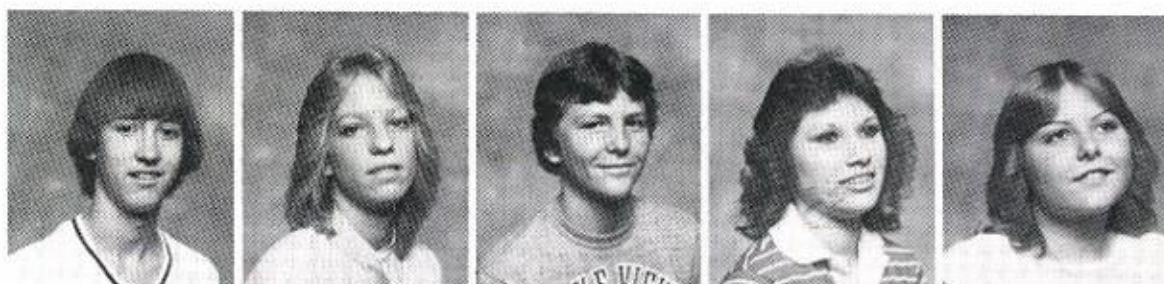

Mr. Royce Burrows' DECA program helped get the basketball season underway with the concession stand which was handed over to the junior class mid-season. Of course, his whole class helped him so volunteers were no problem.

Mr. Jerry Johnsons' luck was not as great on obtaining volunteers for the program sales but with the help of Alvin Michalewicz, they managed to keep their heads above water. One-half of these sales went to the junior class and the other half to the Athletic department for printing purposes.

These three sponsors handled the technical and financial details and supplied supervision to the students and after much worry and headache the sales finally came to an end and the Senior Prom was on.

Lori Makes Presence Known

By Patricia Richardson

For anyone to have gone to a Maiden basketball game, volleyball game or a track meet, they may have seen a 6-foot-1 sophomore, Lori Hoelscher, participating on the varsity squad in all three sports.

According to Maiden Coach Dale McClellan, Hoelscher helps "a great deal" in all three sports.

Hoelscher has been playing basketball since her seventh grade year in junior high. She started playing, because all of her friends were going to.

In the basketball standings, Hoelscher averaged over 17 points per game and had over 11 rebounds a game.

"Her accomplishments in basketball are limitless," said Coach McClellan.

Hoelscher feels that she is doing "pretty good."

Being the youngest girl on the varsity squad was an adjustment at first. Hoelscher did receive a little help from others.

"You learn from watching them," she said. "They don't really teach you."

Hoelscher also competed in the high jump, placing third in district as a freshman and started on the varsity volleyball team making all-district in one of the state's "toughest areas," according to Coach McClellan.

"She was our leading spiker and blocker," said Coach McClellan.

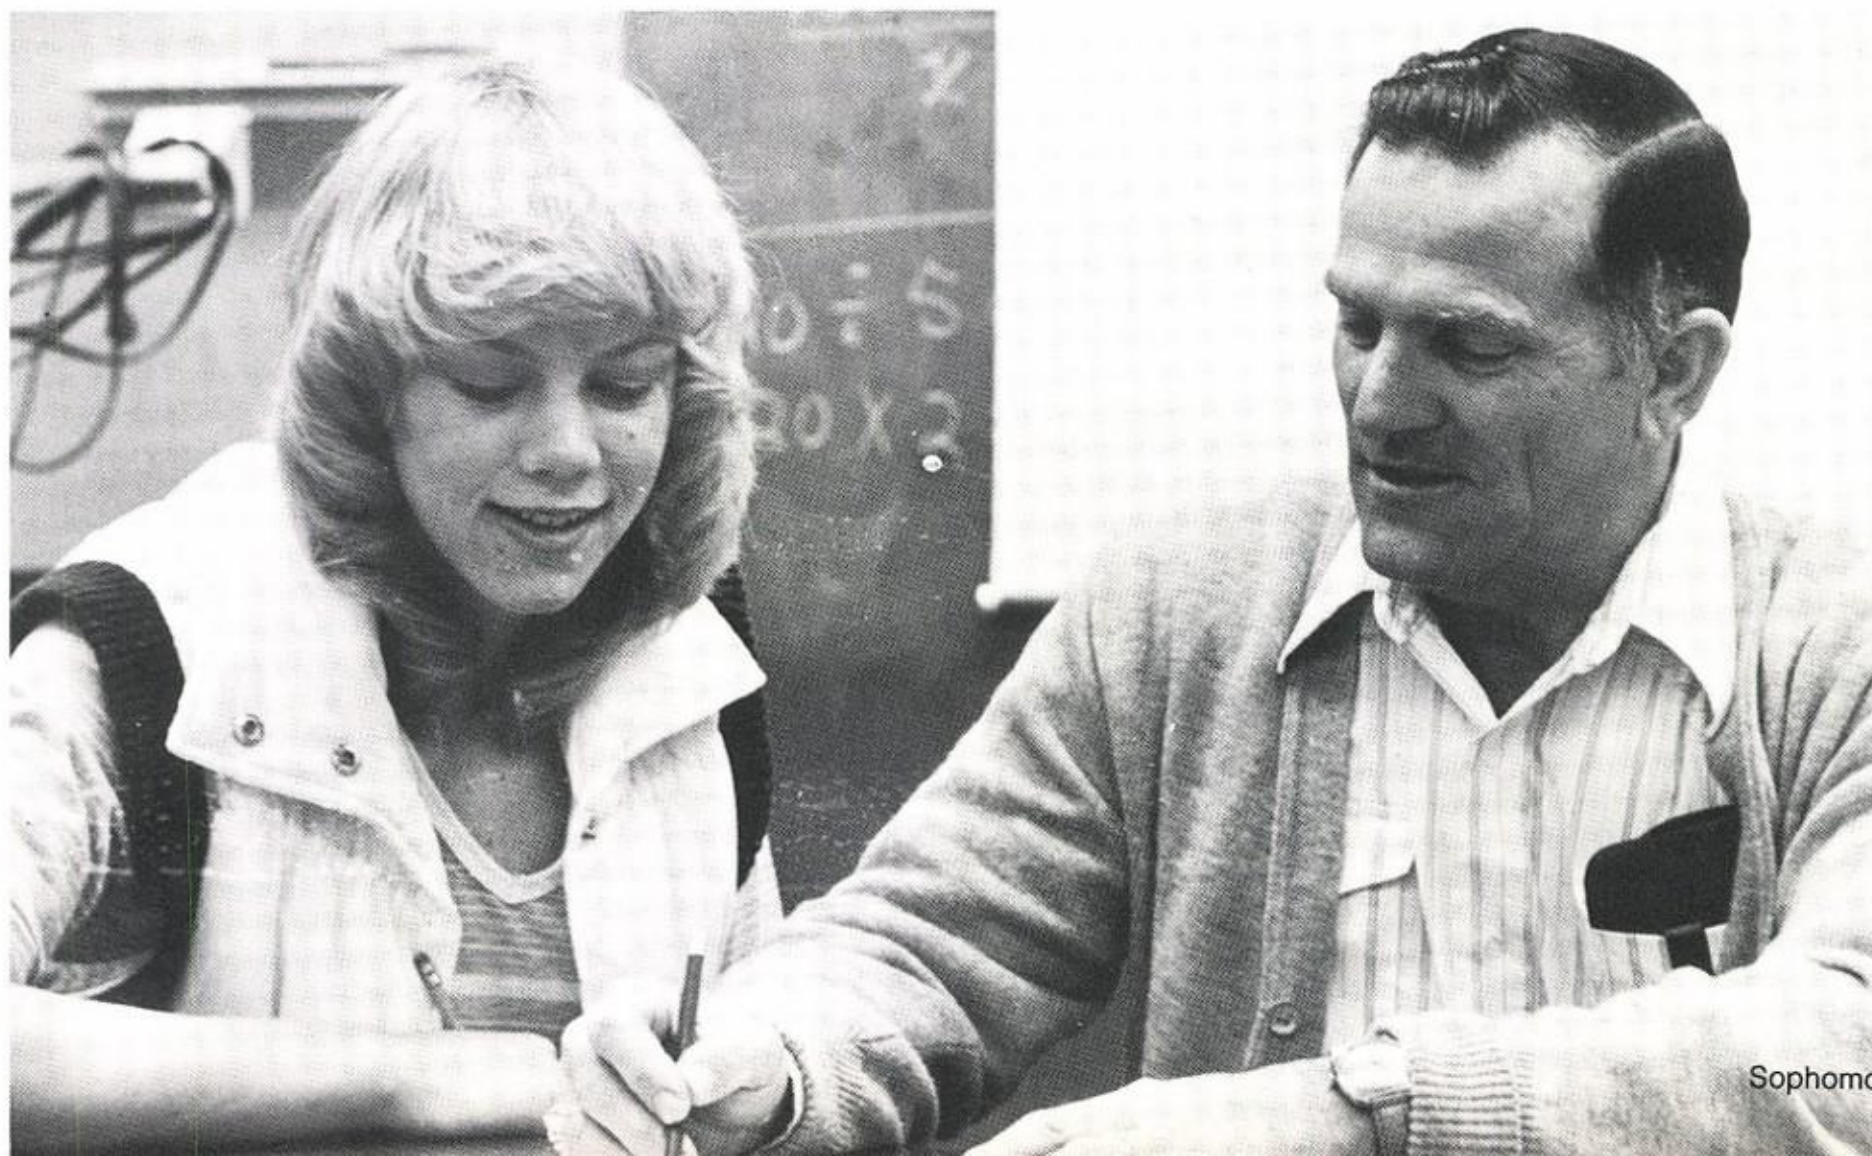

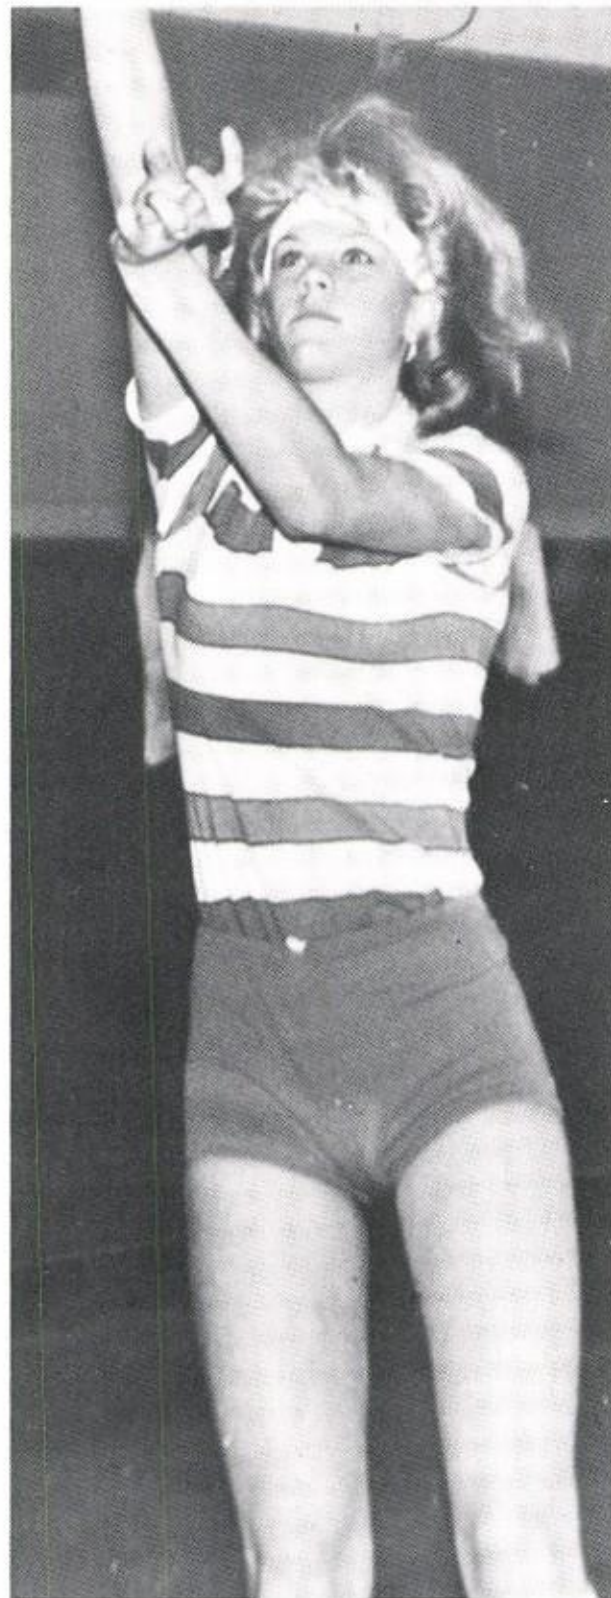

Coach McClellan feels that the 6-foot-1 sophomore can be "One of the better basketball players in the state of Texas, if she remains dedicated to the sport."

Garfield Favorite Comic Character

By Kristy Guevara

If you were given a chance to choose one comic strip character, to be put in your very own newspaper, made especially for you, which would it be?

When most people stop to think about it, they try to remember which characters are in the comics.

Well, 50 per cent of Lake View High School students and teachers polled in a sidewalk survey, chose Garfield as their favorite character.

Runner-up turned out to be Peanuts, with 18 per cent. Dennis the Menace was voted into third place with 16 per cent. Beetle Bailey and Blondie brought up the rear with their votes of 10 per cent and 6 per cent, respectfully.

Garfield, being Lake View's most popular character, was first introduced to San Angelo in May, 1981, through the local newspaper.

"Garfield became popular six weeks after his first book came out," according to Walden's Books assistant manager, Ellie South.

Comic characters are sold by means of cards, calendars, books, stationery, T-shirt iron-ons, party favors, mugs, and other gift items.

Garfield became most favored from the sale of books. There are three books out on him right now.

Why do the students and teachers like Garfield so much?

"Cause he's a cat, and cause he's funny!" says Robin Dehnell, freshman.

"He's one wild and crazy cat," says Shannon Sherwood, freshman.

"I like him cause he's stupid," according to history teacher, Mrs. Jean Martin.

Maybe the reason why so many people identify with him, is because he's fat and lazy . . . a description which also fits lots of people, as well.

Boddie's Assets Are Speed, Ability

By Keith Rosser

Speed, natural ability and plain old hard work all teamed up last fall in the form of Boddie Lindsey making him one of the first freshmen in a number of years to play on the varsity football team.

"I've wanted to play on varsity ever since I was in the seventh grade," said Lindsey. Playing with the older players might frighten many freshmen, but Lindsey wasn't scared of the varsity players because he got to know them over the summer and during the eighth grade.

Juniors Troy Butts and Dwight Edmond helped Lindsey learn the plays, but there was a lot more than learning the plays, he said.

When Lindsey was in the eighth grade, all the varsity coaches suggested taking him into varsity. Coach Tom Fambrough said Lindsey's strongest point was his speed.

"When he first started out he couldn't block, and that was his best improvement," said Coach Fambrough. "He had the natural ability to run with the ball."

Coach Fambrough said he had seen no resentment in having a freshman in place of a senior or junior in a starting position and the coaches treated him as a football player, not as a freshman.

"They didn't pick on me," Lindsey said. "Most tried to help me. The only one that really picked on me was Coach Jim Slaughter, but he was just playing around." He also said he worked hard to make the team, and even harder to start.

His parents wanted him to start not sit on the bench even if it meant to play on the freshman team. Lindsey said that wouldn't be bad, although he would rather play varsity.

Brandy Anthony was chosen as the freshman favorite girl. Brandy was class president and a cheerleader her freshman year. She was also a member of the tennis team and active in Student Council.

On the Move . . .

With Faculty

The life of the faculty is not to be considered all testing and report cards. Teachers keep on the move also, singing a happy tune, showing their humor, and kicking up their heels.

Bill Graves Named New Superintendent

New as superintendent of the San Angelo Independent School District was Mr. Bill Graves who came here from Andrews.

This district offered Mr. Graves a new set of challenges; namely, a larger district and a smaller per pupil budget.

Mid-way through his first year as administrative chief, an unexpected challenge arose when the landmark school administration building burned on Christmas Eve. The west section of the building was totally destroyed, and what was not burned was mostly water-logged. Most offices were moved to the east portion while the school board and administration reviewed plans for either reconstructing the burned portion or rebuilding at the same or another site.

Handling administrative details on the Lake View campus was sixteen-year veteran principal, Herschel Duckworth. Computer problems plagued the campus during the fall as the new program was becoming operational.

Also assisting in the overall administration of the school was Mr. Bob Meek, whose primary responsibility was discipline and textbooks.

Improvement in Basics Is English Objective

"Every facet of our lives is concerned with communication. We read, write, and speak in any job," says Mrs. Ann Barker, head of the English department.

The main goal in the language arts department is to help students develop a seriousness in these three areas: (1) learning to study, (2) learning to enjoy reading, and (3) concentrating on writing.

It's true, the English teachers tend to push their students to strive for high goals, and they grumble. What the students do not realize is that all the hard work is college preparatory, preparation for the rigorous college life that will determine their future.

Math Gets Computer

In the math and science departments, a variety of classes, both elective and required, were offered. These courses gave students a challenge whether they were working on a trigonometry function or a chemistry formula.

According to Mrs. Frances Renfroe, "Students are afraid of math, but college-bound students need to be exposed to such courses." New to the math department was a TRS-80 math computer which was used by advanced math students.

For scientists, the basics were presented in physical science and biology. Advanced study was offered through Biology II, chemistry, and physics.

Social Studies Teaches Culture, Citizenship

Teaching teenagers the fundamentals of history, government, and economics is the basic objective of the social studies department.

"The basic goal of the department is to acquaint young people with the development of the culture in which they live, to give insight into the operation of society, and to understand their roll in citizenship."

The second half of American History since 1877 is taught to freshmen, World History to sophomores, and government to juniors and seniors.

Economics and Frontier History are offered as electives.

All the history teachers have tight schedules, and it seems a wonder they could talk on subjects so complex to a bunch of restless teenage kids.

"It's a dirty job, but someone has to do it," chipped in one teacher.

However, Mr. Simpson sums it up entirely. "High school teaches people, college teaches a subject, and the real world teaches hard truth that hopefully we can prepare them for."

Electives Brighten Up School Day Activities

School life "lights up" with electives. A student develops himself through electives, but in a manner that is enjoyable to him.

Speech, drama, band, and choir students show development in speaking and acting, as well as learning new music techniques. "We develop techniques that result in valid personal expressions in working with various materials. This technique is often — creativity," explains Mrs. Imogene Buck, art teacher.

"Home and family living deals with the introduction of ideas to give basis on decisions as adults with living skills," explains Mrs. Beverly Nevins, home and family living teacher. "I like to think my students leave my class with something they can use in the future," added Homemaking teacher, JoAnn Green, "whether it be home development, sewing, cooking, or just being a better consumer."

Due to the Yearbook, Pow Wow and photography classes; bi-weekly publication of the newspaper and of course, the yearbook, would not have been feasible.

Typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping provided a means for improving secretarial skills, while a better concept of the Bible was being achieved through Bible classes. The study of a second language, Spanish, was also offered. Students could not only use this in speaking, but in writing also.

Career Skills Taught in Vocational Classes

Through vocational courses students strive to learn a skill, or trade that will assist them in getting a job in the future. "We strive for willingness to work and learn," explains Mr. Ted Weeaks, vocational agriculture teacher. "We make it one of our goals to strive for independence."

Our overall objective is to give the student a better understanding of the mechanics of a car," explains auto mechanics teacher, Mr. Rick Heller. "The further advanced students strive for the position in individual garages, and some for actual dealerships."

Mrs. Barbara Purser, VOE teacher, stresses the "I Can!" concept. "The key to success in each of my students is — believing!" explains Mrs. Purser. Vocational students not only learn a trade, but learn responsibilities of a mature person working in today's world — striving towards tomorrow's.

Teamwork Is Vital to Build Strength

What is the strength of a team? Is it the players? What about the coaches? In any kind of athletics, or sports, each individual must use his own personal abilities to better himself.

"I feel to be successful in athletics takes a tremendous amount of hard work, desire, and most of all — Pride!" said Coach Kathy Wadley. "That fifteen individuals, working together to become a team, is one of the most satisfying experiences a person can realize. Hopefully by being successful in athletics, because of hard work, each person will also have a better chance of being successful in life."

"We strive for each individual to accomplish as closely as possible, their own personal potential capabilities," Coach Dale McClellan comments.

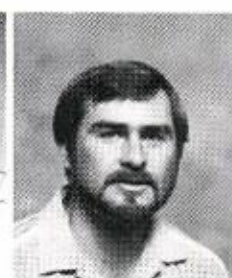

Whatever may be that binding force of a team — that special characteristic of a player, or the values of the entire team, it takes teamwork and players playing as a team to make things work all around.

Barizon Is Pupils' Pick

By Jeree McCarty

Since the ninth grade, Laura Barizon has known she would be an English teacher. With determination like that, it's no wonder she was chosen to be teacher of the year.

Mrs. Barizon has taught English nine years, three of them have been at Lake View. "We have fun — we learn — I don't make it a drudgery. I like my students; it's no secret," explained Mrs. Barizon.

An avid participant in many school activities as well as Chiefette sponsor, Mrs. Barizon took part in the Homecoming by dressing up as a witch for Halloween. "Kids are growing up faster and many have no time for fun," she explained. "I think it's a way of helping students feel it doesn't hurt to make a fool of yourself."

She said that she feels great accomplishment when she looks at her students. "Sometimes you feel like you're not helping but every once in a while one will come shining through ... it makes me feel good!"

Mrs. Barizon has seen students undergo many changes during her career. There have been changes in family situations, parents are less involved, and there is much less student participation in schoolwork.

Overall, she feels that changes are rather favorable, "but that is what we here for," she explained, "With a little enthusiasm we can change that."

She enjoys being at Lake View. "We have a good administration and student body. I look forward to work each day. It's a pleasure to be here."

Mad Dash to Lunch Lines a Reality

"Chicken fried steak, potato, beans, salad, bread, and tea — Mmm! sounds good!" "Boy am I hungry!" "What's for lunch today?" "Are you eating in the snack bar?" "Let's go to Pizza Hut!" These are just a few of the thoughts and questions, you run into around lunch time every day! Students have seen many changes occur in both the snack bar and cafeteria.

Two years ago cokes, and certain candies, were taken completely out of the snack bar. Now, only candy bars remain. Last year, students also witnessed inflation. Lunches in the cafeteria were raised to 70 cents, this year to 85 cents.

Who is to say what we shall see in the future years? Remember a word of warning — the thoughts about lunch, during the day, are ideal thoughts; but the mad dash to the lines are very much a reality!

MOVIN' ON WITH

THE CHIEFS

Both size and speed were assets in Head Coach Jim Slaughter's football bank proving to be fruitful by the end of the season. The season opener, against vengeful Del Rio, proved to be a disappointment with the Rams, dropping Lake View 18-7.

Finally coming to their senses, the Chiefs did a double shutout. First, crushing the Stamford Bulldogs 32-0, then turning back the Ft. Stockton Panthers 21-0, in their first district game.

But, all good things must come to an end, as the Chiefs faced their powerhouse rival, the Andrews Mustangs. Andrews, ranked 3rd in class 4-A, was favored by seven against the 25th ranked, Lake View.

The showdown was in San Angelo, with Andrews A-1 offense against Lake View's top-flight defense, and it proved to be a good show. The Chiefs curtain call came too soon, however, and Andrews closed the show with a 21-15 victory.

Chiefs Come Back Winning

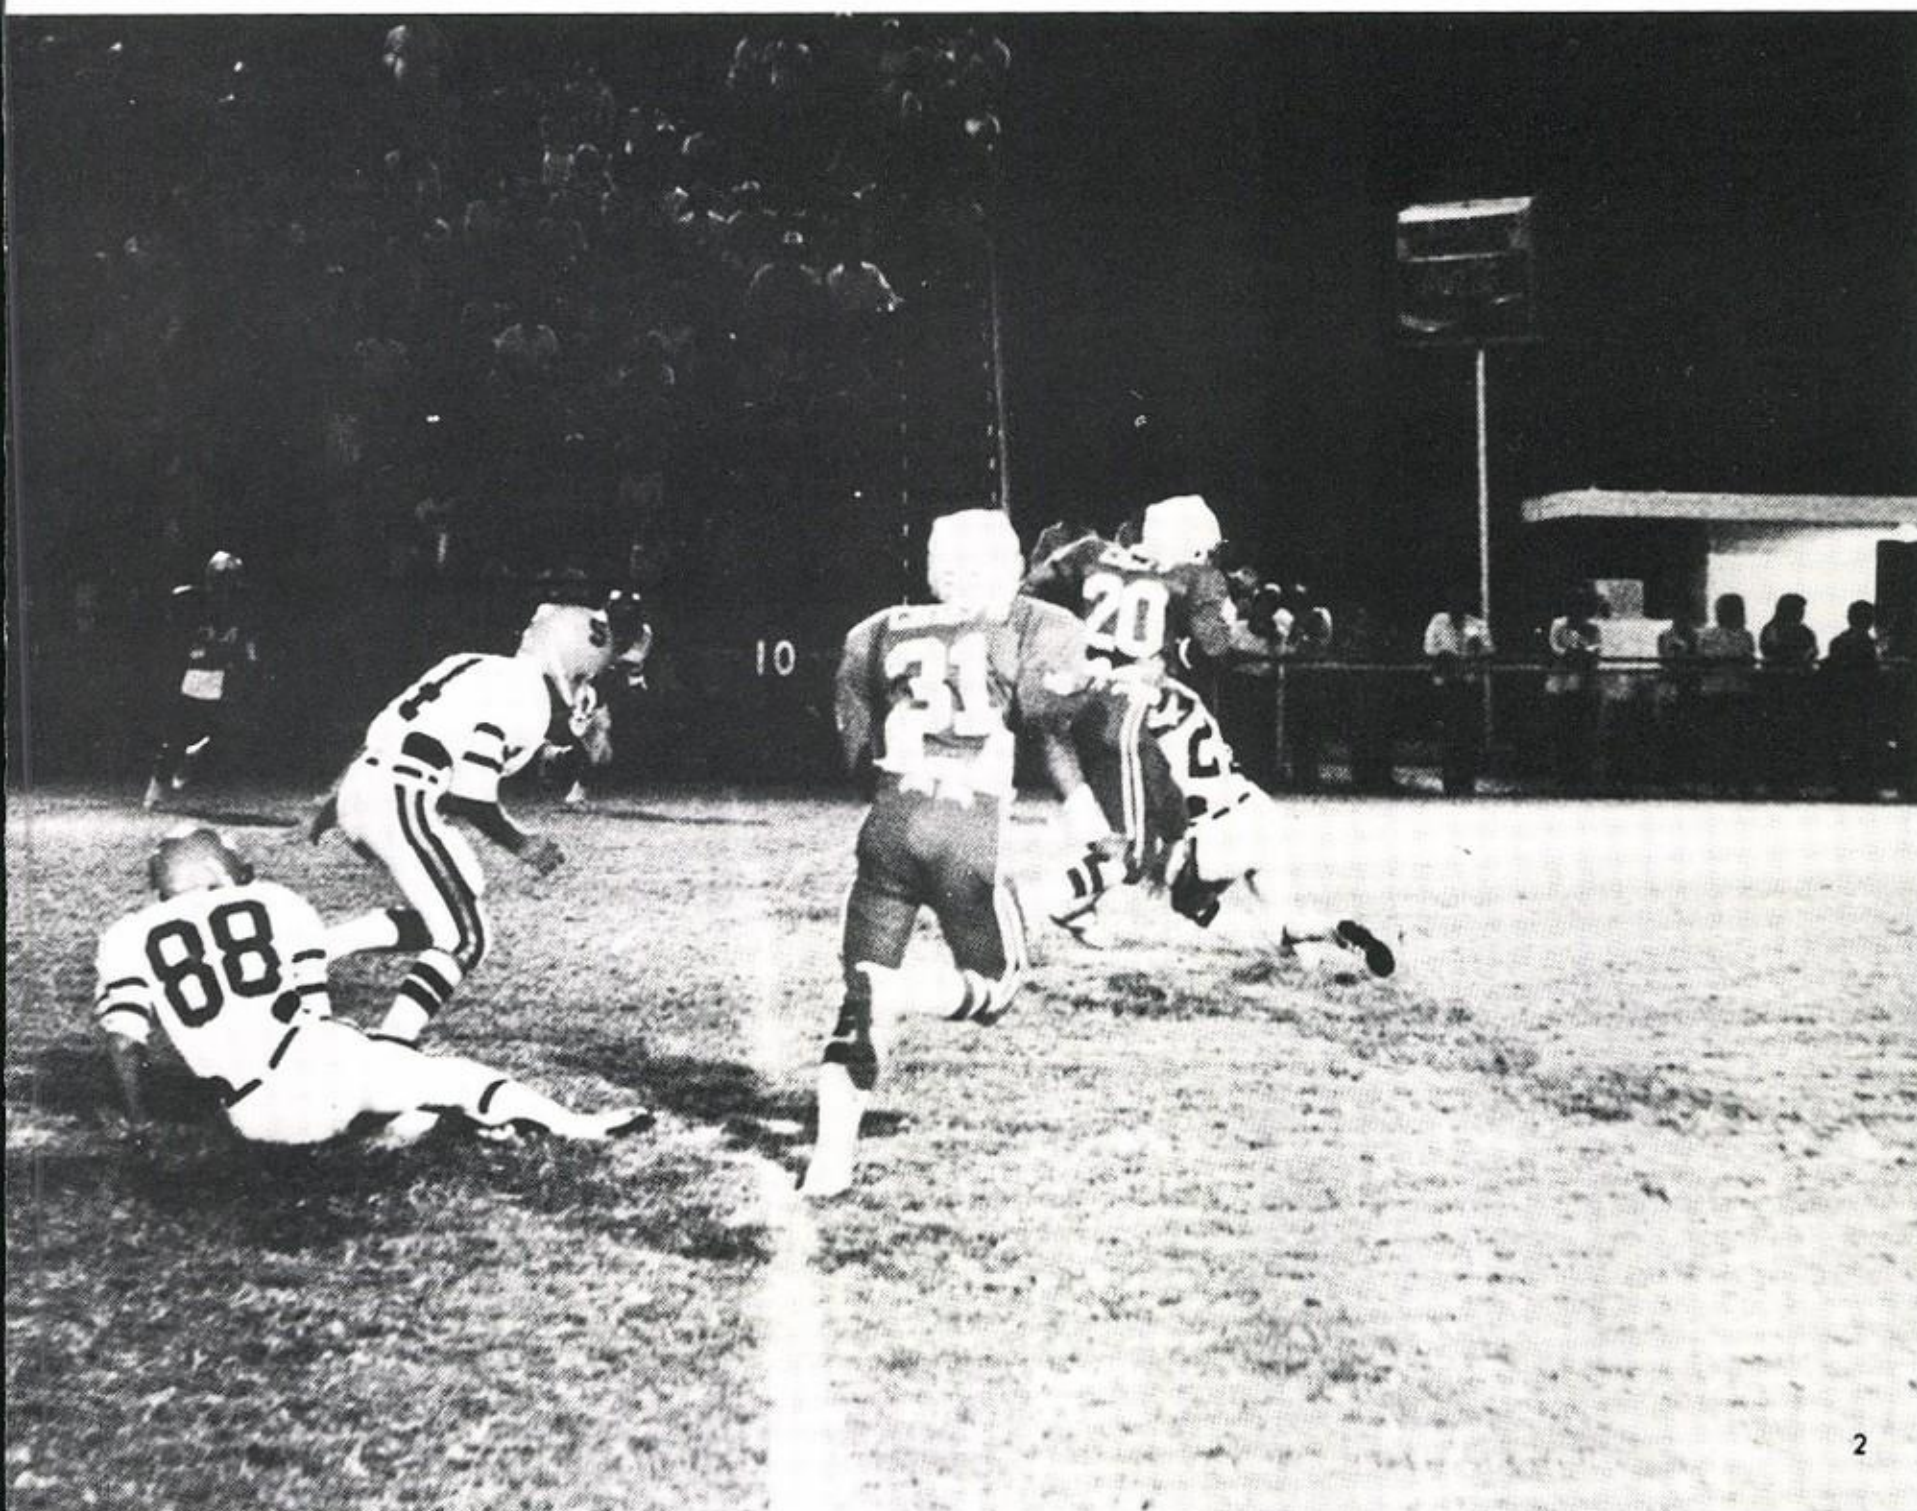

The Chiefs still freshly battered by Andrews, traveled to Sweetwater. They pitted their topnotch defense against the Sweetwater Mustangs' stunning offense. Loading up a different quarterback and throwing in all the power they could muster, the Tribe challenged the Mustangs and their 3-0 record. The Big Blue returned from Sweetwater's so-called "snake pit" unharmed and with another win to deposit. The great contest turned out to be no contest at all. The Chiefs rustled the Mustangs, 36-8.

Jumping to eleventh place in the Harris rating and favored over the Snyder Tigers by 38 points, the Chieftain team came back to Lake View stadium confident and ready. The Chiefs charged the Tigers defeating them 33-6.

The tribe then took their magic show to Lamesa. The Chiefs, gaining 1738 yards on offense to the opponents' 997 yards was a moral advantage in their favor in addition to their getting 90 first downs to the opponents' 50.

The Golden Tornadoes hosted the Chiefs with both teams having a bad day. In passing the Chiefs went 4-18 and the Golden Tors 3-19. The Chiefs, though, returned victorious winning 16-0.

Chiefs Put on Show for Fans; End Season with 8-2 Record

What would you like for Homecoming," asked the Chieftain defense to the offense."

"Well, I'm kind of partial to shut-outs. So, if you do your part, we'll toss in a few touch downs." replied the offense.

"Your wish is my command!" says the defense.

The Lake View Homecoming game proved to be a big success as both defense and offense did their parts.

The game, a duel of the defenses (Lake View was first in district standing and Pecos was second) turned out to be a surprise. The terror tribe wrecked havoc upon both the Eagles' defense and offense, scoring four touchdowns and leaving Pecos' score tied with the clock, at the end of the contest. The final score was 28-0.

The "Big Blue" then headed into Odessa to play Ector, hoping, "If you've beat one Eagle, you can beat 'em all," to paraphrase an old adage. In this case it proved to be true as they defeated Pecos 14-0; the Tribes' fifth shut-out of the year.

The last game of the season provided good entertainment, in the battle for second place. The Chiefs turned off the "Green Machine," zapping them 17-7. The Chiefs finished the season 8-2 and district play 7-1. In district stats they finished first in defense, second in offense, first in points allowed and fourth in points scored.

JV Has 6-3 Year

The Junior Varsity Chiefs football team went 6-3 on the season.

The Chiefs dropped the first two games of the season, losing to Midland Lee Sophomores and the Kerrville JV. The scores were 7-28 and 7-29, respectively.

The first win of the season came at home against Ft. Stockton, won 28-16. After an open date, the Chiefs battled back to defeat Sweetwater, 24-18, and Abilene Sophomores, 24-16.

Then they went out-of-town to play Brownwood and lost, 12-14.

The JV Chiefs came home and defeated Sweetwater, 24-16, and shutout Ector, 25-0.

In post season play, the Chiefs lost to the Central Sophomores, 23-0.

The Freshman team opened their season with a 6-0 win against Abilene Jefferson, but it took them four more games to pull off another win against another Abilene team, G. Franklin.

The Freshmen finished off their season with a 2-6-1 record, tying with Abilene Mann.

No Praise 'Rewards' of Managers

By Steve Meek

Would you work at a job where there's not much praise, has little glory, doesn't pay, and is very time-consuming?

This job description fits a unique group of individuals who spend their time working as athletic managers and trainers.

"It helped me to relate to people and understand their problems," said Joe Guzman, a senior student trainer.

As a trainer students learn first aid, taping methods, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, and basic anatomy.

Guzman, along with Angela Broadway and Duffy Martin attended a summer camp in Portales, New Mexico for a week, where they learned training techniques.

Guzman first started in his sophomore year when he was injured in football and couldn't play for the rest of the season.

His interest in playing football has long since waned, while his involvement as an athletic trainer has flourished. So much indeed that he has been offered a college scholarship.

"Fifteen years ago, people who couldn't play on the team became managers and trainers," said "Doc" Smith. "This tradition has lost out in time though. Now, they're part of the team, the asset that's never counted."

"Doc," holding both a state certification license and a national certificate, noted a trainer shortage.

"There are only about 2,000 certified trainers in the U.S. of which 206, at the high school level, are in Texas, more than any other state. Lots of colleges are offering scholarships for people in that field."

The athletic programs need managers and trainers because coaches can't do it all. Without them it's a tremendous burden because there's a void left to fill.

"They make my job easier," added "Doc." "With reliable people to do what you want done the way you tell them, you get things done much faster. Our job is to help people play again. We're not doctors nor medicine men, we just carry out a doctor's orders and decide how to care for injuries while finding out ways to prevent them."

So why would someone be a trainer? Guzman best summed it up, "It's a lot of hard work and a lot of bull to put up with at first, but when you have the victory, it's well worth it."

BASKETBALL IS

The Lake View Chiefs started their basketball season in a tournament in Sweetwater.

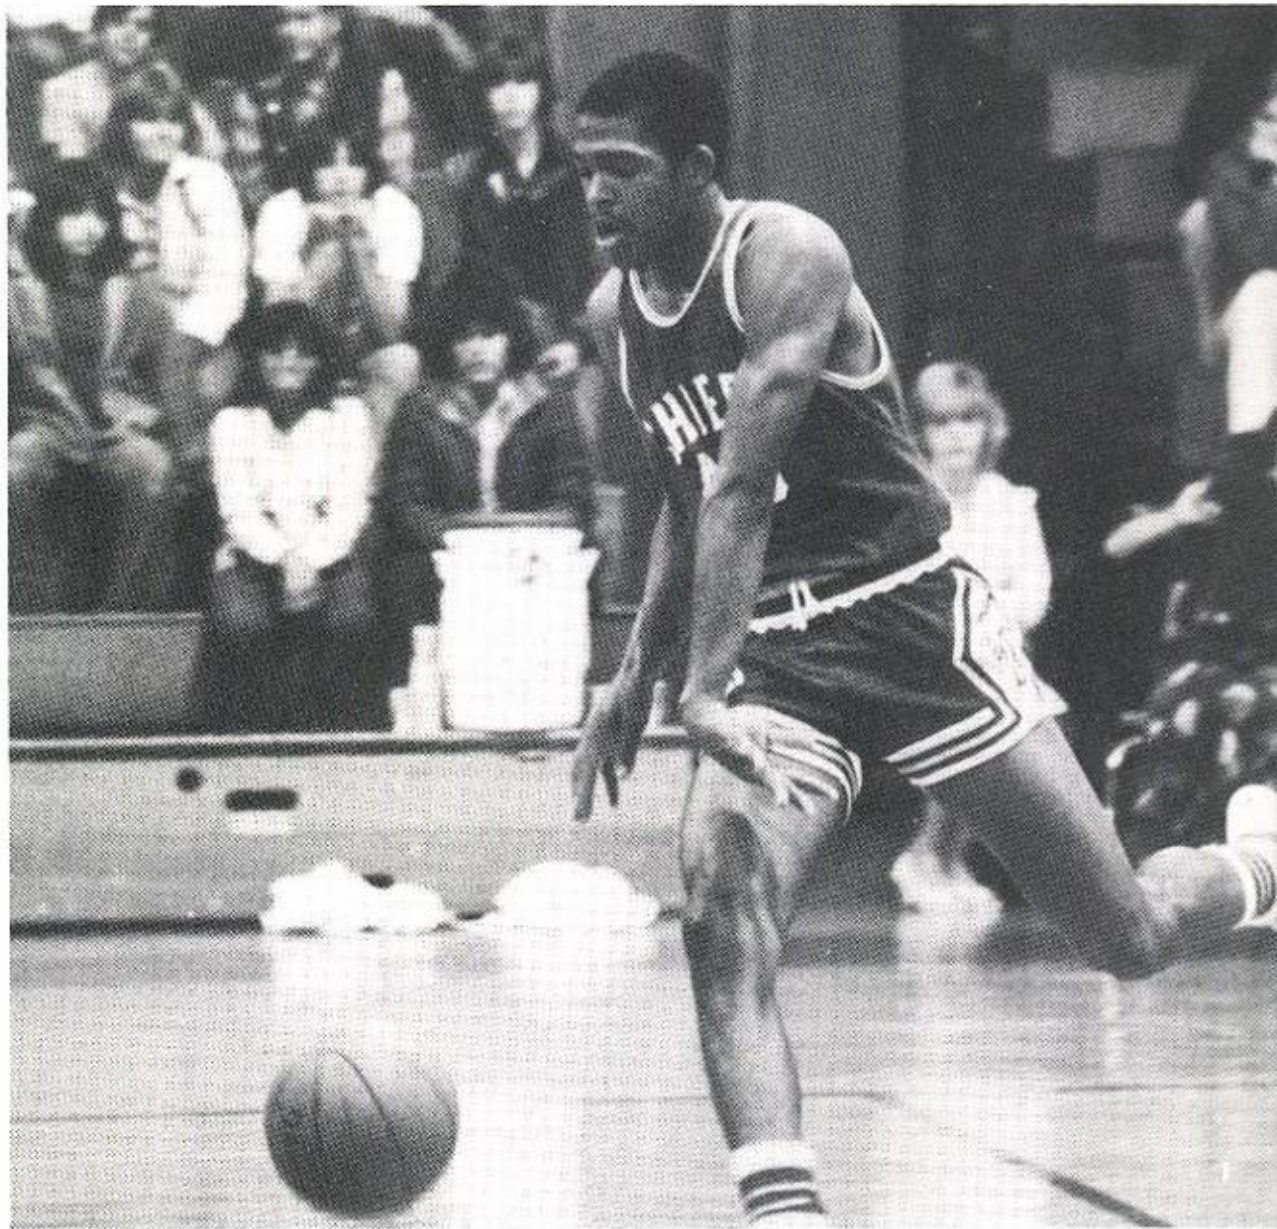

The first game played was against Seminole, in which the Chiefs lost 81-58.

The second game turned out to be a win for the LV Tribe, defeating Menard 75-54. Highpointer was Jeff Bozeman with 17 points.

Lake View then lost their last game of the tournament falling to Brownfield 56-46.

In pre-district play, the Chiefs pulled out a bullet when they defeated Brownwood 41-40. Jerry Horne with 18 points and Vincent June with 17 points were high pointers of the game.

The Chiefs then returned home for their own tournament. The tourney opened with the Chiefs against Colorado City; Lake View overwhelmed them 71-65. The Tribe then played Ft. Stockton and downed them 57-43. The Varsity squad was then defeated in the Championship game by Lamesa, 56-52. LV took second place honors with Jeff Bozeman and Vincent June making the all-tournament team.

Chiefs Fall to Brownwood

The Chiefs were then matched against Brownwood once more, this time falling short to the Lions 48-45.

Coleman looked at the Tribe for a win, but was disappointed when Lake View turned them away, beating them 53-33.

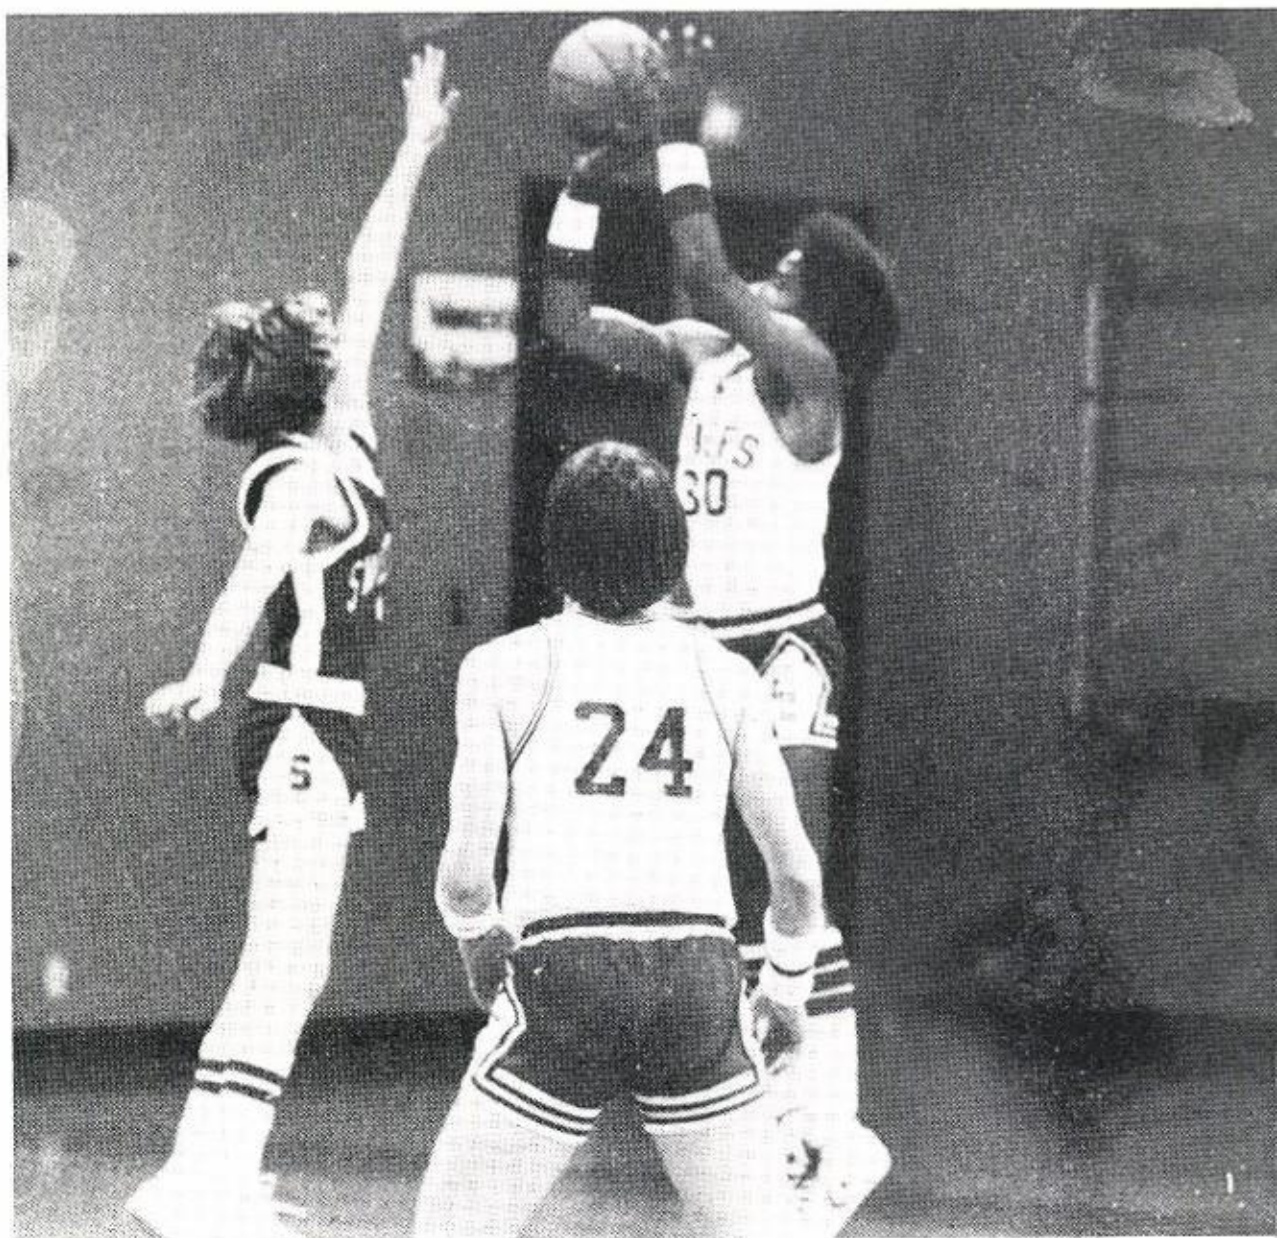

In the first two district games of the season, the Chiefs posted two losses, first against Sweetwater 56-51, then Andrews, 89-54.

Lake View got their first district win of the year, defeating Ft. Stockton 55-50. Highpointer for the Chiefs was June with 14 points.

The Tribe next traveled to Brownwood for a tournament. They took second place by beating the Brownwood St. School 65-21, Pridy 50-45, and losing to Lamesa in the Championship game 51-41.

Lake View then played Ector and lost to the Eagles 88-51. Earl Clemmons scored 16 points in the contest.

The Lake View Chiefs defeated Coleman in a close contest 50-49. June and Bozeman both had 13 points.

Tribe Drops 4 Loop Games

The Lake View Tribe lost four straight games in a mid-season slump: first, against Monahans 57-49; second, against Snyder 61-44; third, against Pecos 63-41; the fourth time, against Lamesa 57-35.

The Chiefs then regained some composure and defeated Ft. Stockton 42-30 and Sweetwater 50-40.

At the end of the season the Chiefs were matched against a tough Andrews squad. The Tribe fell to the Mustangs 79-47, closing out the season.

Maidens Open Season With High Hopes

With high hopes for a good year, the Maidens traveled to Greenwood to compete in the first game of the 1981-82 basketball season. Greenwood defeated the girls with a one-point win.

In the Sweetwater Tournament, the blue and white fell to Vernon 53-54, but came back by winning against Wichita Falls and Central.

Continuing their season, the Maidens went to Midland Lee and were put down by a score of 71-83. December 1 the Maidens lost a battle against Central 51-61.

Lake View opened the Maiden Tournament by topping Seminole 72-39. Continuing in the tourney, the girls succeeded in defeating Sweetwater 69-32 and Central 45-41.

Maids Trample Lamesa in Loop Opener

With a 5-4 record for the year so far, the Maidens opened district play by trampling Lamesa with a 72-36 win. High pointer was Sandy Bolen with 18 points. Donna White and Lori Hoelscher followed close behind with 17 each.

The Maidens next defeated Pecos 51-48. To the 51 total, Hoelscher contributed 31.

Continuing district play, Sweetwater was taken by Lake View 66-35. White and Hoelscher, both made 15 points and Susan Wells scored 14.

In a disappointing game, the Maidens lost to Andrews by one point, 68-69. Hoelscher was high pointer with 21. Lake View also traveled to Ft. Stockton and conquered the team 60-42. Hoelscher, again, was high point, scoring 18.

Competing in the Lubbock Monterey Tournament, Lake View fell to Kirkland, New Mexico 28-60, but came back to defeat Coronado 59-55. The Maidens fell out of the tourney after losing to Andrews 42-56.

The Blue and White defeated Ector, Sonora, and Monahans bringing their district record to six wins and one loss.

A 12-17 record was racked up by the Maidens' volleyball team in their first year of 2-4A District action. The nine-team district, considered one of the toughest in the state, has produced a state champ 13 out of the last 14 years.

Before the season started, the Maidens knew there would be competition, but they "hoped to establish the foundation for a strong volleyball program," according to Coach Dale McClellan.

Striving to be good, being competitive, and improving daily were some of the goals established by Coach McClellan and the Maidens.

"We proved to ourselves that we were able to compete and defeat schools who had had volleyball a long time," said Coach McClellan.

Frosh V'ball Has 7-5 Year

Coach Joann Green took over the helm as freshman volleyball coach leading the team to a 7-5 regular season record.

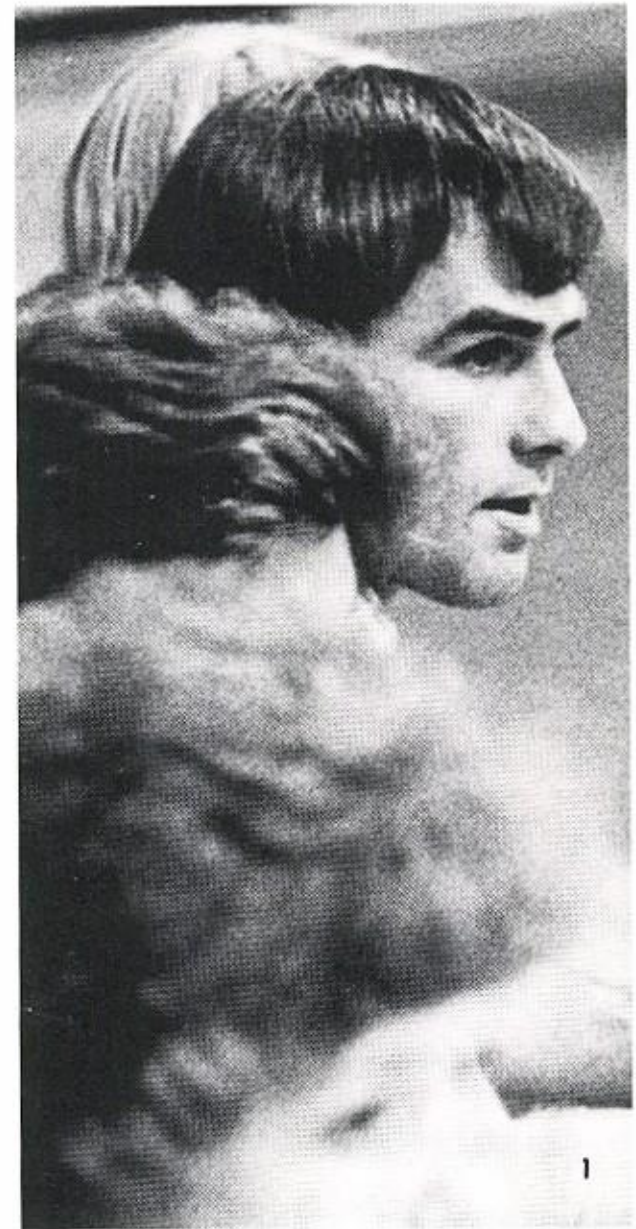

Goals Coach Green and the team set early in the season were "to learn and expand each individual's abilities, to work for a better team and to play as a team."

While the team was defeated in the city tournament, Coach Green said, "We learned a lot throughout our season."

"I saw so much progress, it was unbelievable," she pointed out. "I was satisfied with the results I had."

The Chief varsity track team opened their season at the Ft. Stockton Comanche Relays, February 26-27 with nine returning lettermen.

Coming home to host their own relay March 6, the Chiefs and track coach Ben Norton had the next week end off during spring break.

Next, the Chiefs traveled to Andrews for the Mustang relays and then they were back home again for one of the biggest meets in the state, the San Angelo Relays.

Other relays were at Sweetwater, Mason, and Andrews in addition to the district meet in San Angelo, the region qualifiers in Lubbock, the region meet in Odessa and the state meet in Austin.

Returning second year lettermen were Jeff Bozeman, Felipe Gamez, Andey Mercer, Sam Miles, and Ed Scott.

Single year lettermen were Earl Clemons, Dwight Edmond, Bill McEwen, and Billy Skinner.

Girls Return 7 Lettermen for Track

Returning seven lettermen in girls track, the team opened their season by hosting the Lake View Relays, March 6.

Next meet for the Maidens was the Concho Belle Relays, March 12, followed by the Snyder and Seminole meets the last two weekends in March.

Track Coach Kathy Wadley and her crew next traveled to Sweetwater for the last meet before district, April 9-10 in Monahans.

Debbie Dove, discus thrower, LynAnn Klutts, hurdler, and Sandy Bolen, mile runner, were the senior returning lettermen.

Two juniors, Kelly Irvin, discus thrower, and Amy Walker, distance runner, were once again making contributions in their contest areas.

In addition, sophomores Trudy Baker, distance runner, and Lori Hoelscher, high jumper, added to the team effort.

TENNIS COURTS THEIR MOVES

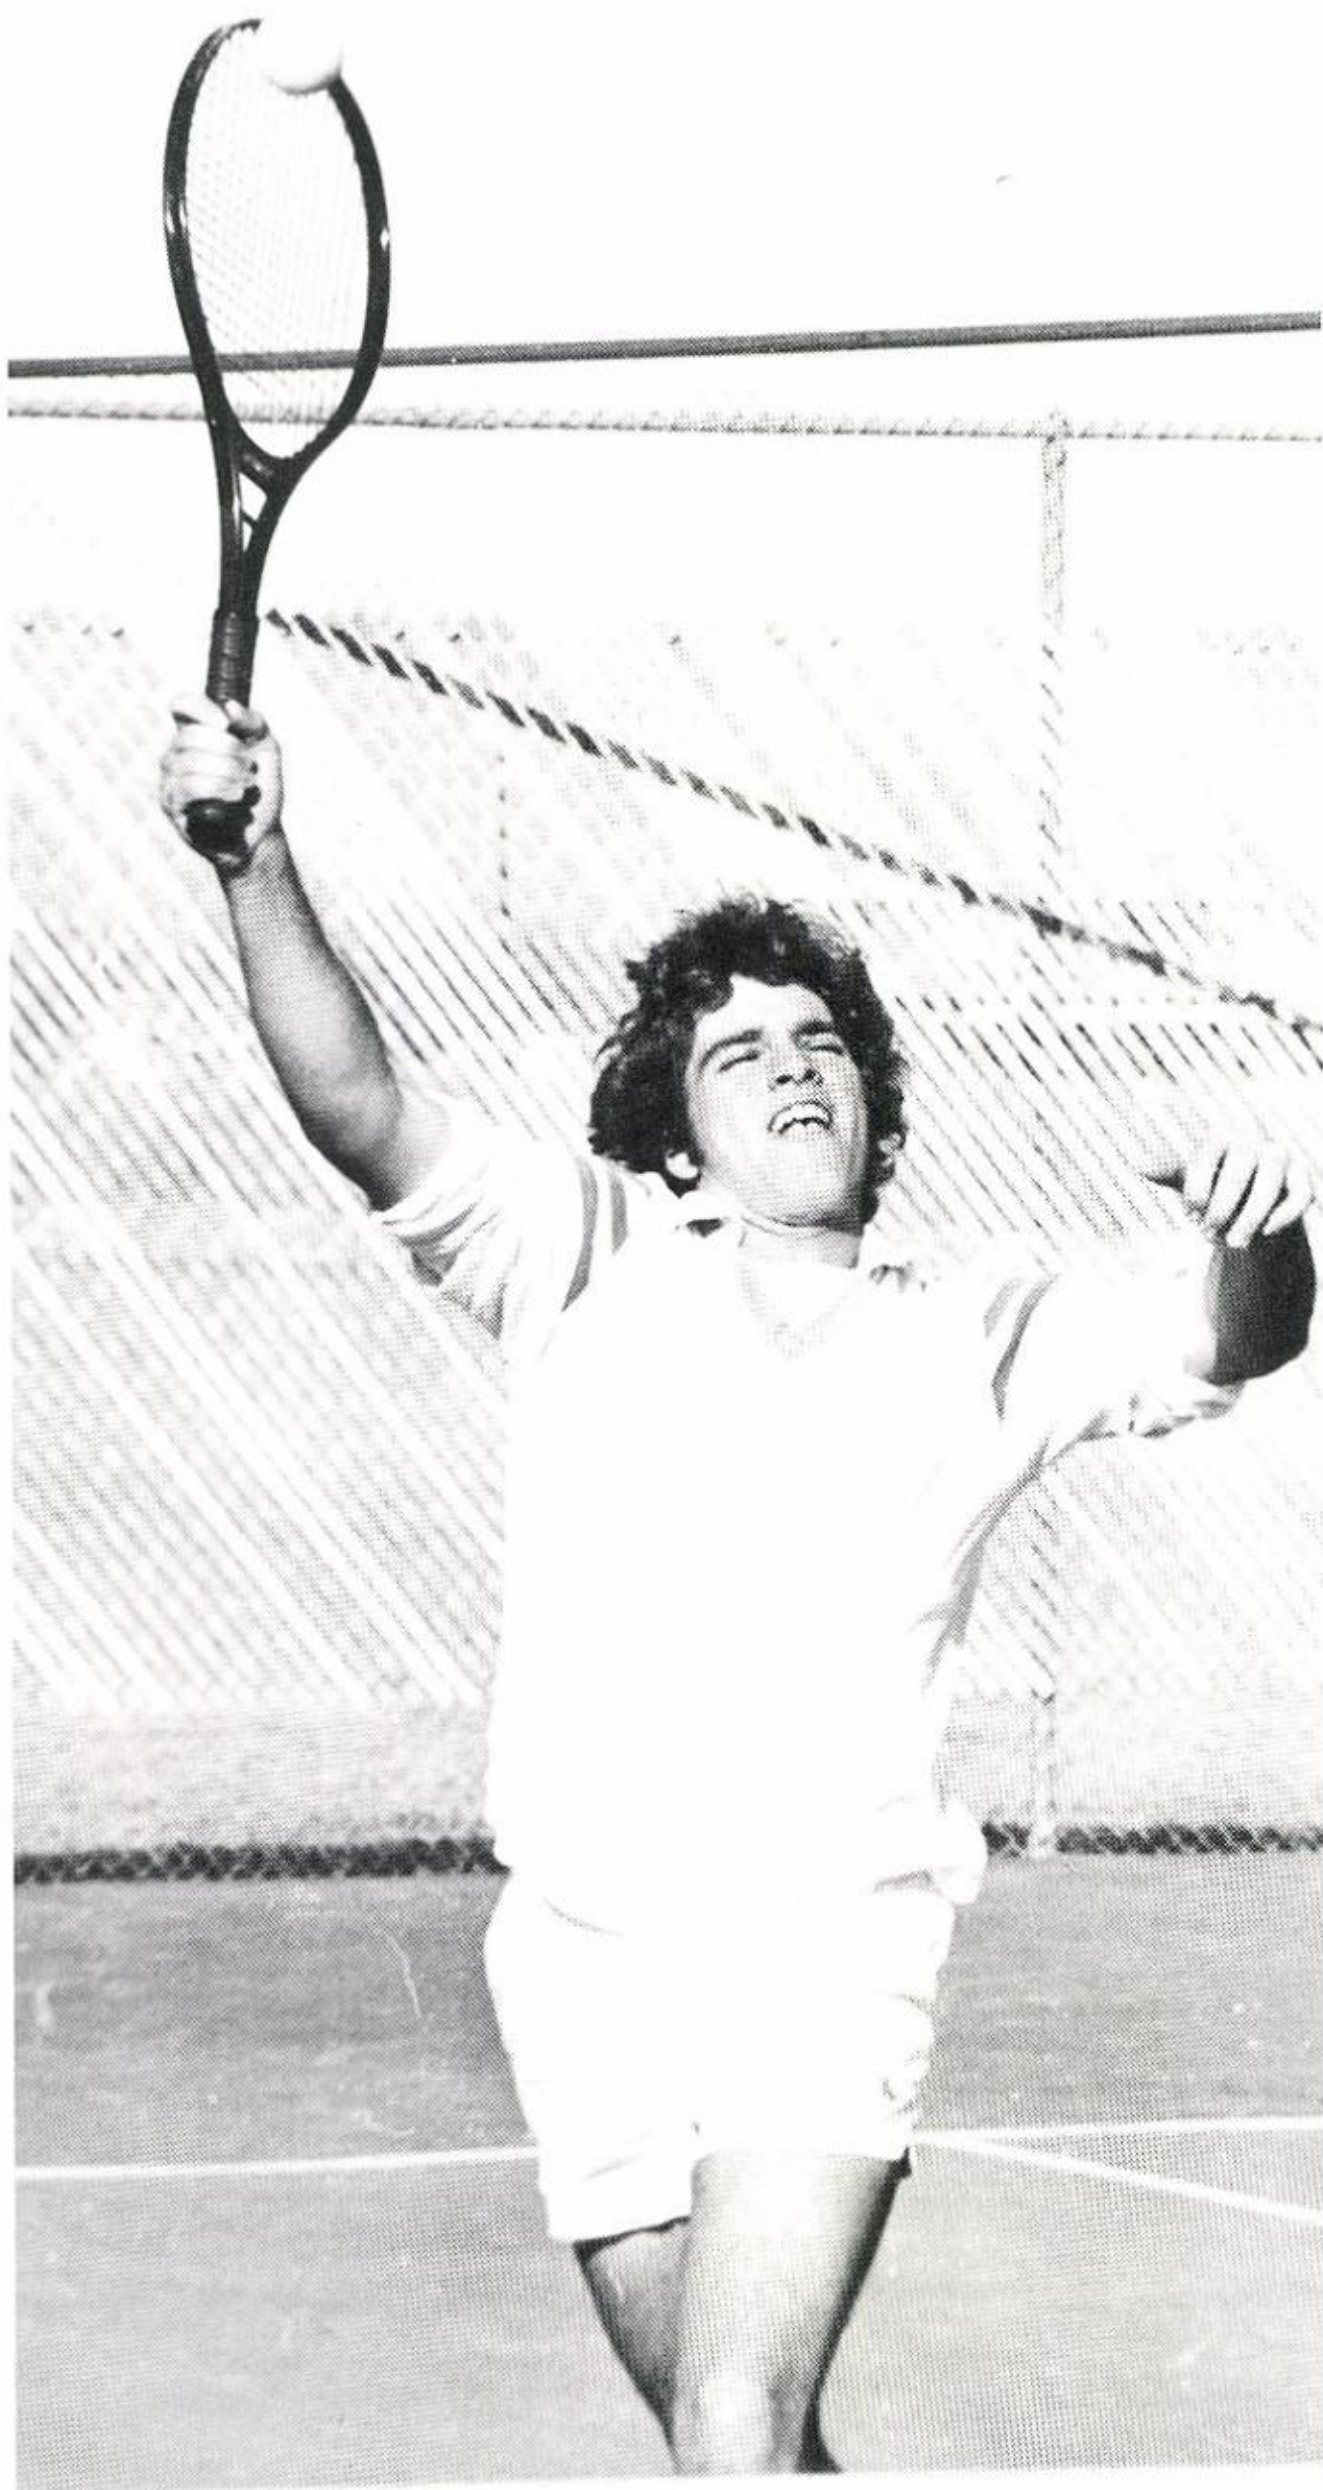

Early in the season, the varsity tennis team faced Ft. Stockton and Odessa Ector in the first triangular meet of the district season. From there they went on to face Lamesa and Monahans, but rescheduled for a later time.

Sweetwater came to Lake View for a varsity competition and the next district triangular meet, between LV and Pecos and Andrews was described as "one of the toughest teams in the district," according to Coach Felix Lopez.

The team also played Snyder in the last district meet, before the District Tournament in Midland.

Tennis Faces Area Clubs

The team also competed in non-district competition throughout the year. Varsity and freshmen teams faced teams such as Coleman, Garden City, Miles, Ballinger, and Eldorado in duel meets.

Competition was abundant in tournaments the team competed in this year, including the San Angelo, Sweetwater, Austin, Snyder, Abilene, and LV tournaments.

Students Get 'Physical' . . . Exercise

"Let's get physical . . . physical. I want to get physical . . ." And physical . . . exercise, that is, is just what some students are pursuing through their individual sports interests. Some of these students are Stephen Franco in golf, Janice Ferguson, dancing, Angela Stewart, horse riding and Becky Martin, softball.

Franco has been playing golf for eight years and is going to the National Pan American Golf Association Tournament in Dallas.

A senior, Franco said he "practices everyday when the weather is good."

Entering tournaments almost every week, Franco can compete in junior tournaments until he is 18.

"Golf is a new experience everyday," pointed out Franco.

Another senior, Becky Martin pursues her athletic interests on a local softball team.

Last summer her team won the Texas State American Softball Association trophy, and she was voted the most valuable player. "The team helped me get the recognition," she said.

Martin played for Ricardo's team where she was the youngest player on the club. Her team is currently rated Class A in its district.

"I just don't think I could've done it without my mom's support — she was always there," said Martin.

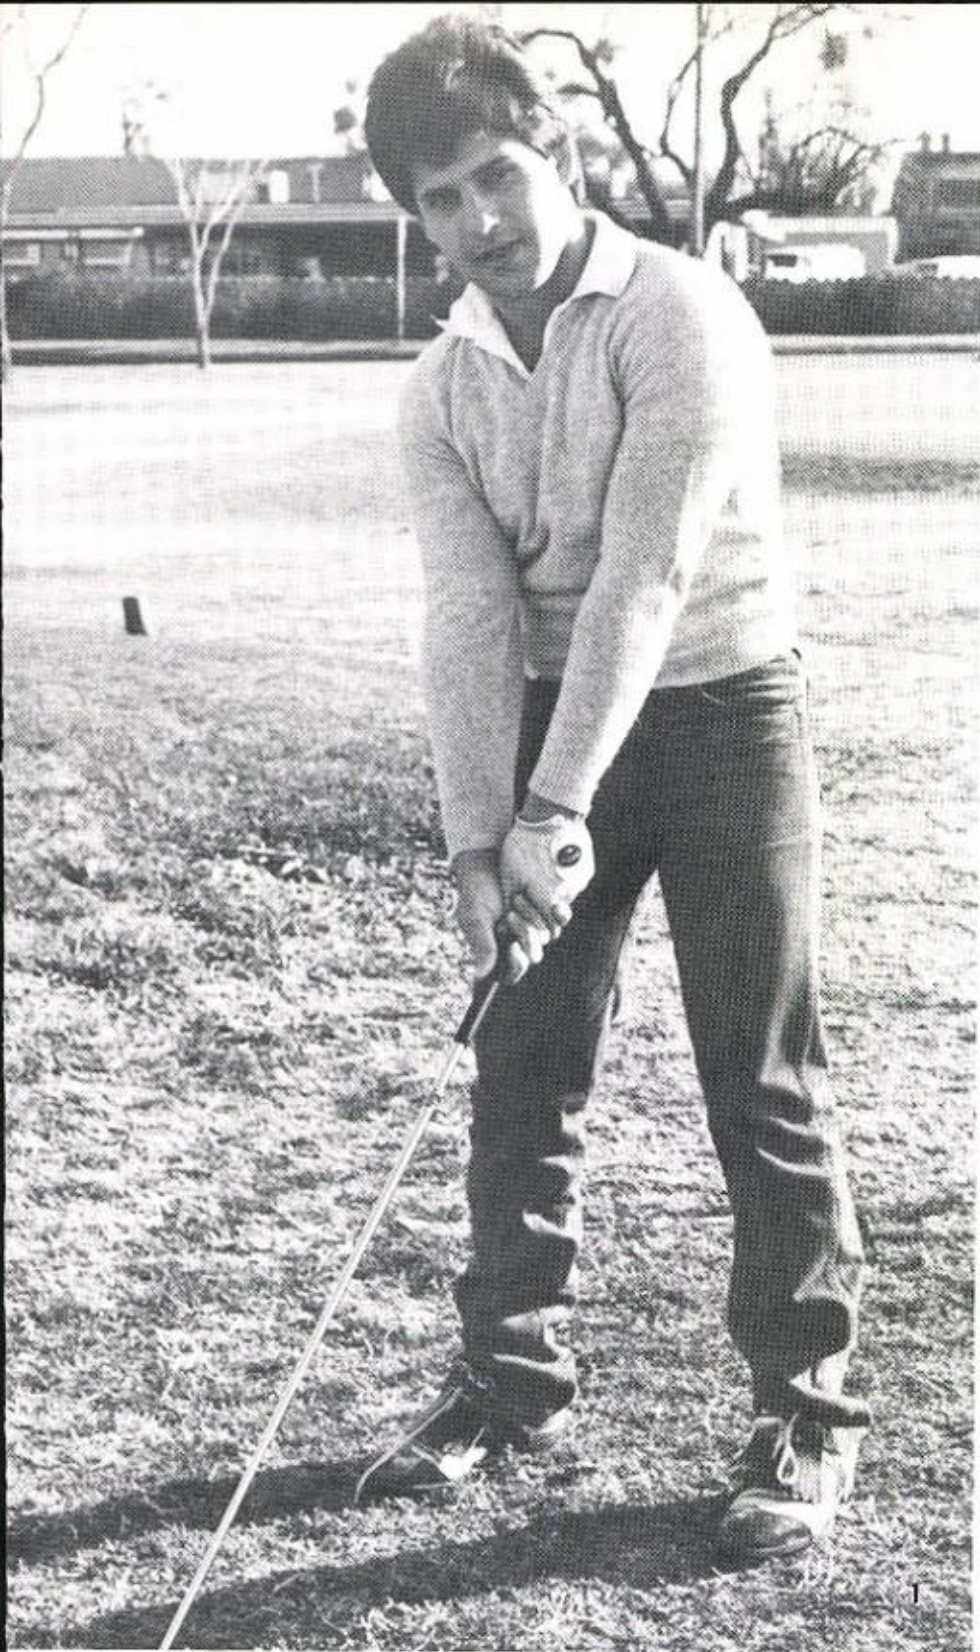

Part-time model, dancer and fulltime student best sum up Janice Ferguson's busy life. A sophomore, Ferguson has modeled in Dallas and Houston and performed in the Angelo Civic Theatre's production of "Oklahoma" in February.

For Angela Stewart, getting up at 2 a.m. on Saturday to feed her horse and get ready for a riding show is not a particularly new experience — she's been involved with horses since she was 5-years-old.

Stewart has a natural way with animals and "supposes she's been in just about every stock show and rodeo in Texas."

For all of these students the interest and abilities may be innate ones, but the drive and determination to carry out those abilities also take a lot of hard work, tears, patience, . . . and the willpower to get up at 2 a.m.

Clubs

School clubs are a great American institution. They promote interest; academic and social but also provide a diversion from everyday school life. While some clubs are designed around specific fields or careers, others are just for the students to exhibit their leadership qualities and get "on the move" with the world around them. The fun and fellowship were all that were needed to keep us and the rest of Lake View on the move.

Varsity Cheerleaders

JV, Freshmen Cheerleaders

If you were ever at any sports events during the year, looking on the sidelines, you would have seen the familiar faces of the cheerleaders. Game after game, these girls endured sore arms, tired legs, plus a hoarse voice the next morning but through rain, sleet or sprained tendon, the dedication and enthusiasm were always there.

Cheerleaders were seen at every level, freshmen and sophomore basketball to the junior varsity and varsity football games. Supervision was supplied by Miss Liz Zentner and Mrs. Adena Beck and head cheerleader Jeanine Cahill was busy organizing.

The cheerleading organization was a busy and prosperous one. Attending a summer camp this year at Hardin — Simmons in Abilene the girls got a chance to learn the latest cheerleading techniques. "The camp always gets us in shape for the coming season, we meet other people and get new ideas of bettering our cheerleading squad," said Cahill.

Band

There is a normal looking doorway in the east end of the building that is perhaps one of the loudest, busiest, and most outstanding rooms in the frame of LVHS.

This is the home of the band, rifle and flag corps, a group of ordinary students with music on their minds. Kyle Viertel, director, said, "It is basically a fun, extracurricular activity for the students, and few actually go on to musical careers." The course requires mental discipline and a head for musical symbols.

The Rifle Corps and Flag Corps are designed primarily to accent the band during halftime activities at games and for a pleasing addition to contest.

With all these instruments and divisions, real dedication is sifted out in the many laborious rehearsals. Marches were held every morning from 7-9 and the afternoon sectionals are the tired memories of many band members.

Chiefettes

As one of the beginning organizations ever since Lake View was first constructed, the Chiefettes have established their own ground in the Lake View Hall of Fame.

All year long the Chiefettes were on the move. Whether it was cheering at a football or basketball game, pep rally practices, or working to help charities, these 31 girls never seemed to lose their energy although their feet may get a little tired.

Mrs. Laura Barizon as sponsor of the Chiefettes, was the backbone to this group of girls, giving them that "little extra push" or that reassuring "pat on the back" for a job well done.

"Chiefettes was fun all year long and it was also very organized. Because of that and the hard work we put in, I feel that we have become a better group and that the people respect us more," said Mrs. Barizon.

Student Council

During the school year the student council sponsored four dances, were in charge of a week of homecoming activities, and the TWIRP week. During the TWIRP week they held a slave auction and after the dance, a TWIRP king was crowned.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Emery, sponsor, said, "During the election in which the duchesses were elected, we used the computer system and it went a lot faster."

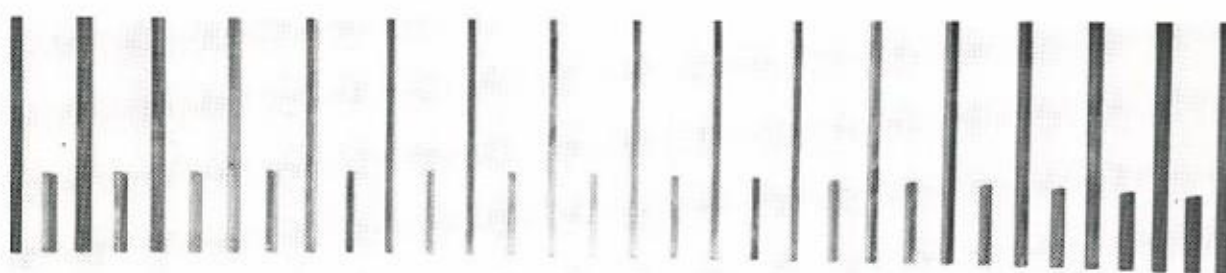

They also edited the telephone directories and at Christmas time they held a canned food drive. A first place prize of $15 was presented to the winning class.

Another off — Broadway production, "The Story of Teddy Roosevelt" was again sponsored by the student council. For the first time, the student council formed committees that had specific jobs to carry out. These committees were decorating, refreshments, teacher appreciation, welcoming, publicity, and clean-up.

The student council officers put together many of this year's activities to bring the students a fun-filled year.

Jeff Bozeman, the student council president, presided over the meetings and coordinated everything. Jeanine Cahill, vice — president, was in charge of social activities and took over when Jeff wasn't there.

Other officers were Dana Olin, secretary, Patty Floyd, treasurer, and Jessica Simpson, historian.

This year the choir went on a trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico. For fund raisers, they sold candy bars and held a Second Annual radio night.

Monte Maxwell and Becky Rhyne started the year off by qualifying for All — Region. Then they captured All — Area and made All — State.

For the first time the choir performed an extended choral. This was the Christmas portion of "Handels Messiah." Also, the freshman girls choir brought a new addition to Lake View.

During the 1980-81 year, the choir took a three — day trip to Houston. They performed prior to the Houston Astro's and Cincinnati Red's game. Becky Rhyne went All — Region, All — Area, and All — State. Monte Maxwell had All — Region, All — Area, and State Alternate.

Yearbook

Yearbook students experienced deadlines, stress and long hours of plain hard work to order to complete the 1982 Chieftain.

Journalism students learned elements of page layout and design and wrote copy, cutlines and headlines for the annual, as they were designing the actual pages of the yearbook.

The selling of ads along with subscriptions served to finance the publication.

Photographers also played an integral part in the publication of the book as they were responsible for taking, developing and printing all the pictures for the yearbook.

Art

Art Club was sponsored by Mrs. Imogene Buck, who promoted art in every possible field and fashion. Members took an active part in the community by displaying projects, serving as hosts during open houses, and being active in many community projects.

Money-making projects this year included the sale of Christmas corsages, mugs, and individual art works. The funds raised went for supplies and trophies given to the outstanding students in the art program.

The National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. RoseMary Fetter, is an honors program designed for talented individuals with leadership qualities and outstanding scholastic achievements.

As elite as this program may sound, it is actually a national program with thousands of members. Money this year was raised by candy sales, used for the yearly Lake View and Central NHS Banquet, held this year at Lake View. Funds also went for scholarships awarded to an outstanding student during the 1981-82 school year.

Distributive Education

Distributive Education Clubs of America was designed as a club for the advancement of students interested in careers concerning sales and contact with the public.

It is an essential and highly supported institution in the SA community, yet in order to attend local and state contest, the members are involved in such activities as community service projects and the annual employee banquet.

Mr. Royce Burrows, the class instructor is in charge of running the concession stand, another big fund-raiser. He also handles all profits, student problems, and other hectic details.

"You get a sense of satisfaction with students that have really worked out but it's all up to them," he said.

Coordinated Vocational Academic Education works basically on the same ideas as ICT and D.E. but with a combination of both. The club deals with careers from sales clerks to garage mechanics, from being a lawyer, to a nurse.

'Actually it works on the same lines, but we give the students a view of every career available, a cover of all the obstacles they will meet in each field, and how to handle them,' explained the instructor, Mr. Wayne Cyphers. CVAE supplied food and drinks for the teacher inservice held in February.

Front row: S. Wilson, J. Simpson, R. Dennis, T. Lousignont, C. Hennecke, E. Perez, D. Gill, C. Malloy, Mrs. B. Purser. Second row: A. Hernandez, D. Martin, P. Montez, L. Lamberth, D. Dennis, T. Office Education Association a class designed to prepare students interested in careers in the office, deals with various areas from shorthand to make-up, to human — relations.

Mrs. Barbara Purser, along with training the girls, becomes a "best friend" to each girl and makes each one an individual case, dwelling on areas she would need to improve in.

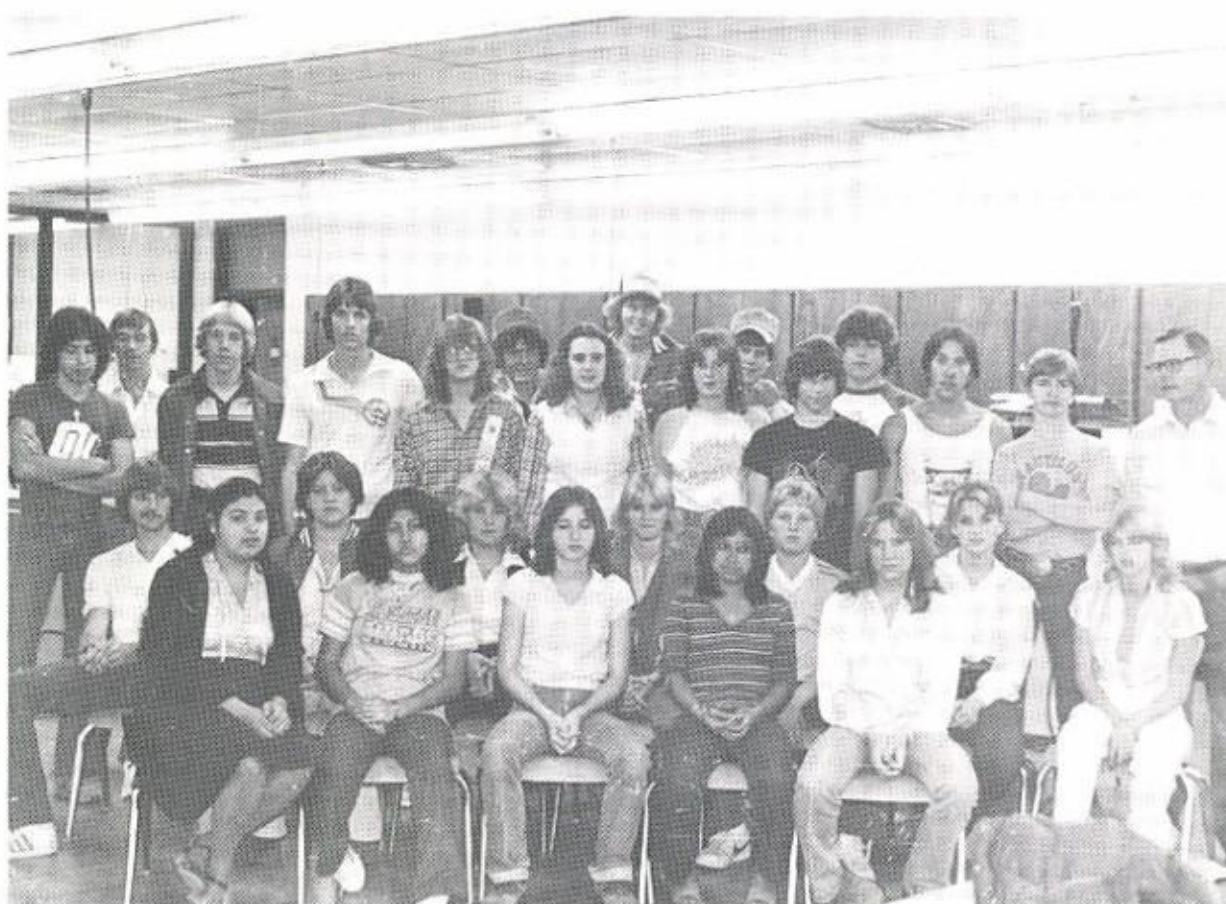

Along with the annual installation this year, the club contributed food for baskets to pass out to selected needy families at Christmas. The girls learned to dress, speak, and wear their make-up properly, all in a kind of family-like atmosphere.

Printing

Printing Class offered skills and opportunities for students interested in careers centered around the printing industry. Under the leadership of Mr. Joe Culp, the class used the printing presses, stapling devices, and all areas associated with the darkroom, and were instructed in the correct and proper handling of the machines.

Jobs were usually found for the more interested students and the career opportunities were endless.

Introduction into the basic construction and repair in mechanics, was carried out through the Auto Mechanics Club, instructed by Mr. Rick Heller.

For those interested in a career in mechanics the class was basic preparation, or if not, the skills acquired could be useful to have on hand in an emergency.

The class was involved in many activities and projects, and with the selling of scraps and metal, they made enough money to treat themselves to dinners and trips during the year.

Mr. John Bearfield, instructor of Construction Trades held at LJH, states his class purpose as, "preparing work tomorrow."

The class works on the basic guidelines of a regular shop, taking custom orders and doing odd jobs for funds that went for the contest trip in April, the woods and supplies needed and occasional meals for the students. They are responsible for the making of the covers for the football scrapbooks. They roof and paint houses, construct bookcases, China cabinets, and refinish furniture. Projects are assigned and sold collectively.

Clothing Services, under the instruction of Mrs. Betty Oates, is to prepare young women in careers centered around the clothing industry.

Mrs. Oates instructs the class in the sewing and preparation of projects for various schools. The sewing machines themselves are modeled after assembly line machines and the girls enter upon every aspect of the clothing business in their work.

Their finished works are sold and proceeds go to the class activity funds for the end of the school year activities.

ICT

Industrial Cooperative Training is headed by Mr. Don Ashley and he oversees students in their working careers.

Everything from job application to safety is gone over and leadership abilities are strengthened. All students must have jobs to be an I.C.T. member.

Students also compete in contests in the job they excel in and fund-raising projects go towards these trips and the class activities.

Los Alumnos, headed by Coach Felix Lopez, was organized to instill student pride in their Mexican-American heritage.

The club was active in the community, and involved in such projects as the Mexican American graduation at the end of school. Students prepared native Mexican foods and sold them for fund-raising activities.

Teaching agriculture students skills needed for farming careers was carried out through the Future Farmers of America, sponsored by Mr. Ted Weeaks.

Projects this year were the fruit sales and scrap iron sale. Most of the profits derived from these sales went for the contests and showings held around the state.

Auto Mechanics, held at Lincoln Junior High School, provided basic skills in repairing all makes of cars, and the art of and possible career in welding.

Instructor Mr. Davis Ellis explains, "The boys learn everything they would need to know in the shop, and even if they don't make a career out of it, the skills will be useful in and around home."

Along with repairing cars and welding, the boys construct boilers for sales and the profits helped for their trip to contest in April and various special occasions of their own.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes links athletes of all sports together into a common goal: inciting more of a pride than a pompousness in areas students perform in. Also, giving the athletes a place to meet and organize is important.

Coach Jerry Horn heads the club and organizes all projects such as barbeques and car washes.

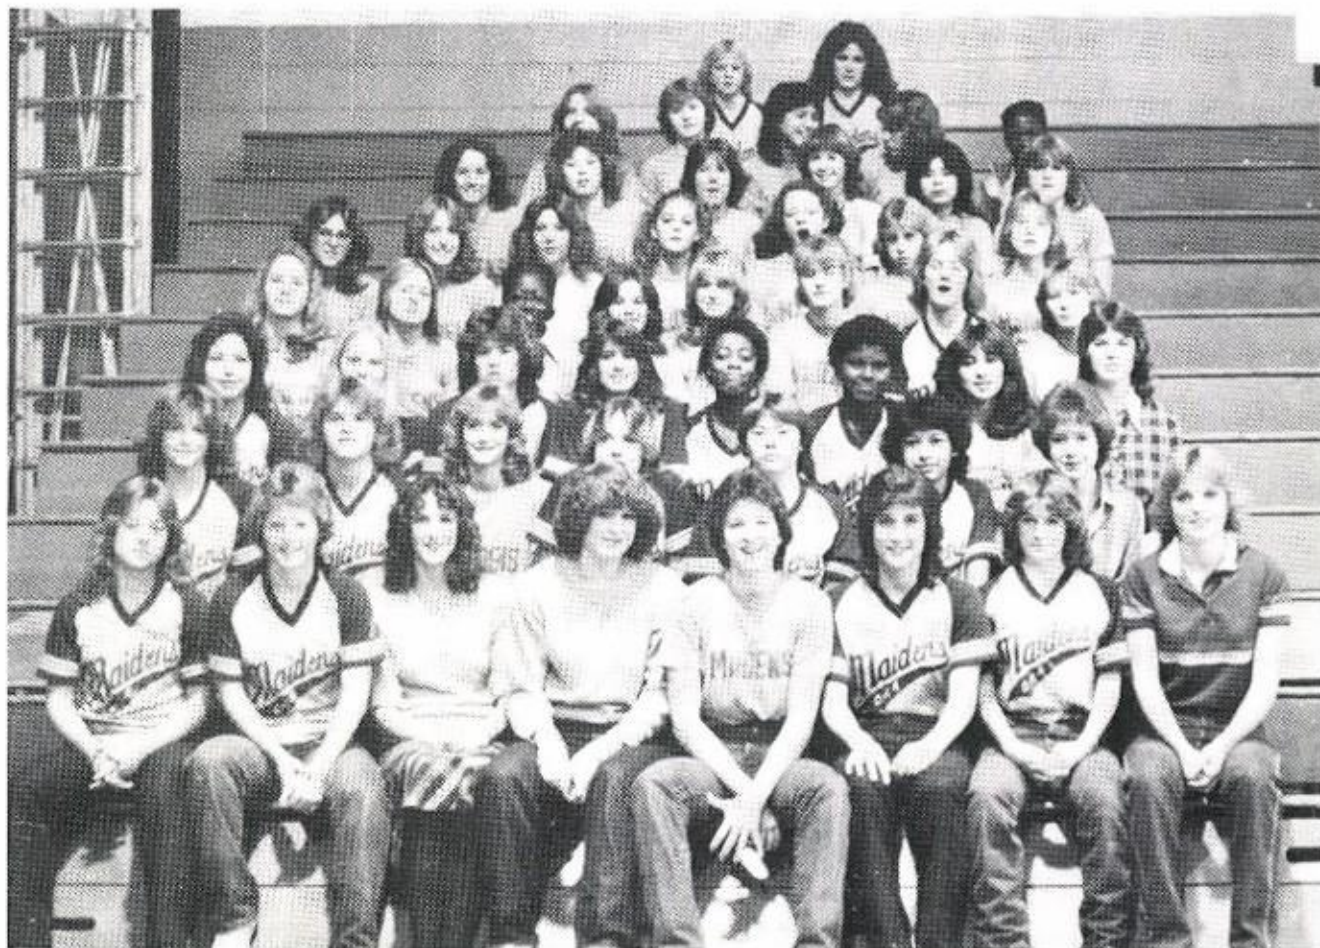

Bottom row: J. Walters, J. Bristo, and D. Edmonds. Second row: D. Whipple, B. Ware, C. Hill, J. Young. Third row: J. Jackson, D. Gill, R. Bingham, S. Frasier, and B. Lindsey, and D. Olness. The Girls Athletic Association, under the leadership of Coach Dale McClellan, is based primarily on the goals of promoting interest for and among girls athletics at L.V.

Projects this year included garage sales, the running of the concession stand during volleyball games, the poster contest at homecoming, and sponsoring an end-of-school picnic.

"Anything that can be done to promote the girls athletics, I'll do," stated the coach. Proceeds went for needed items in the gym.

Math

Math Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Frances Renfroe, is an elite club for the ambitious and numerically inclined.

The club provided opportunities to learn about and study topics of math not usually gone over in normal classroom, such as calculator application and mental arithmetic.

Preparation for the UIL meet goes on year long. The math and science dept. put on the invitational math and science meet sponsored by the LVMC and San Angelo Council of Teachers of mathematics.

Science club, sponsored by Mr. Jerry Johnson, combined all areas of science into one mass learning experience, all in the span of one year. Competitions were held with other schools and at the state level and students participated in all sorts of odd jobs for the Big Bend trip.

Advertisements are important for any yearbook. They back the school financially and provide significant general information on their useful products.

"We Are an Equal Opportunity Employer"

Is there life after high school?

"Congratulations," they said. "This isn't the end... it's just the beginning." They've said it a thousand times at a thousand graduations. While many young people just like you sat there thinking, "Where do I go from here?"

Where do you go for challenge? And opportunity?

Go Navy.

If you qualify, you'll get some of the best training available in highly skilled job fields. From aviation mechanics to linguistics.

And you'll live a little, too. Travel. Work hard. Even swab some decks.

Get all the facts. Call us toll-free, anytime at 800-841-8000. Or talk to your local Navy recruiter.

A good job. And a good life. The Navy: It's a good deal.

August Through May, It Was a

U.S. Army
Multivision Show

Long Year, But It's Over "Whew!"

Halfway through the year, you look back and wonder where it all went to. Pause for a while, but then go on to whatever's waiting for you out there. It was a long road, but it is over and next comes the rocky road to the future. Don't count the months behind, count the years ahead.

Page 226:

1. Seniors Debbie Huff, Pam Collins, Terrell Park, and Debbie Gill talk to Army representatives at their "Multi-vision Show" during lunch.

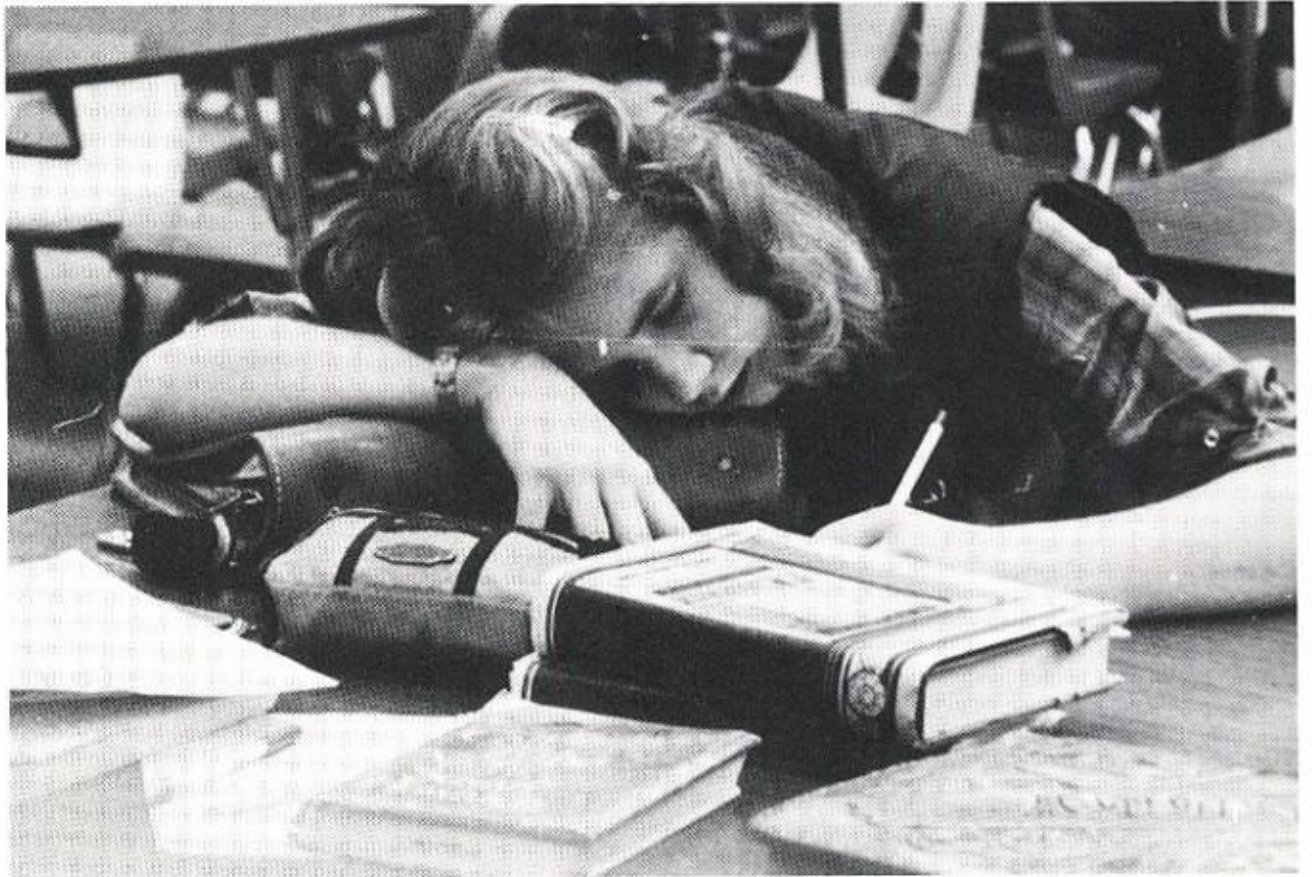

Page 227:

1. Sheila Gordon, sophomore, watches Carey Sartain read as they share a book during English class. 2. Terri Weatherford, Angelica Hernandez, Dulia Silva, and Cindy Martinez, all juniors, "propose a toast" for the camera.

'What Will We Do Now?'

Everyone worries about his or her future, but what were these years for except to prepare us for life. Exposed to all forms of activities and a variety of experiences, despite ourselves, we learned quite a bit . . .

The Change Will Raise Doubts . . .

Page 228:

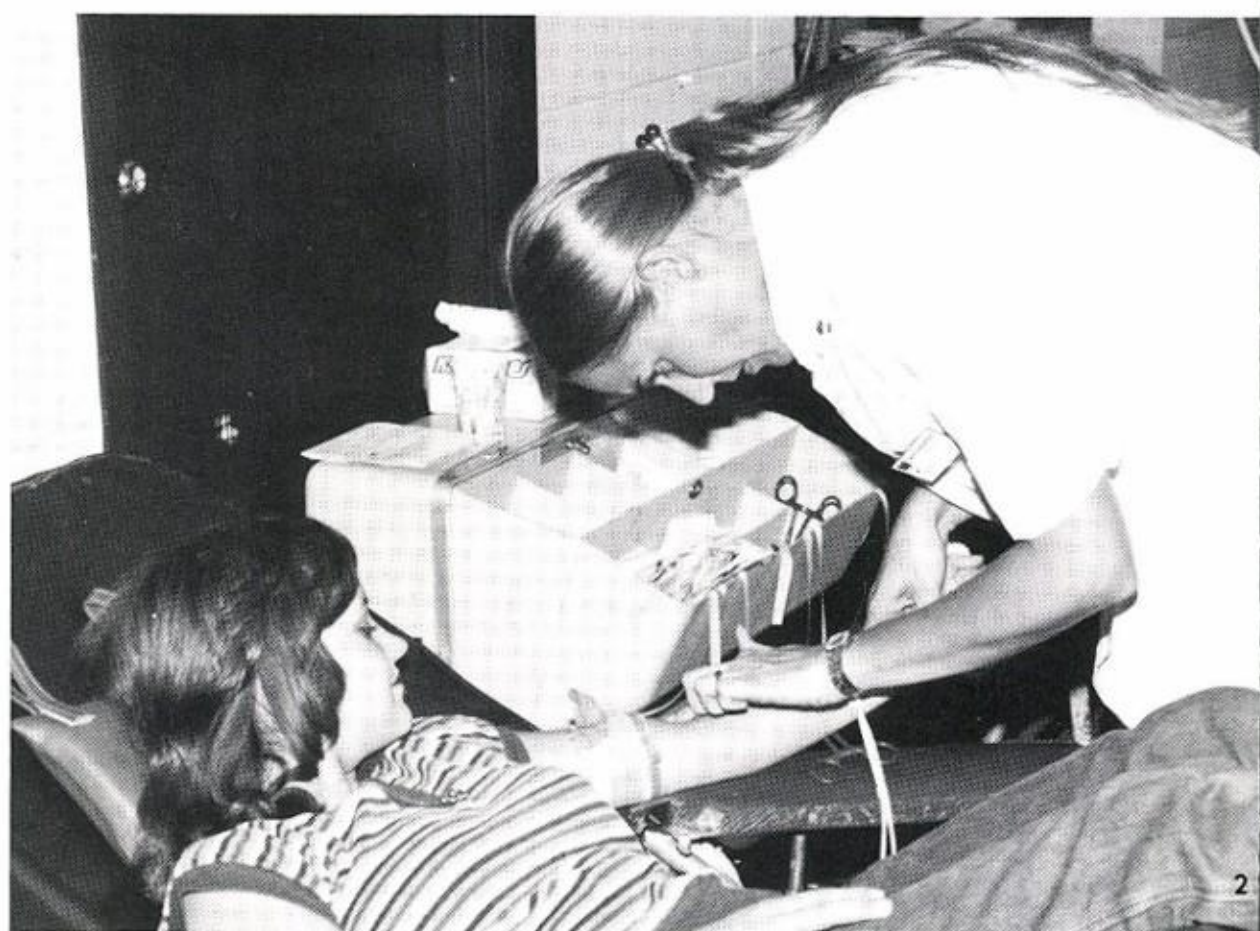

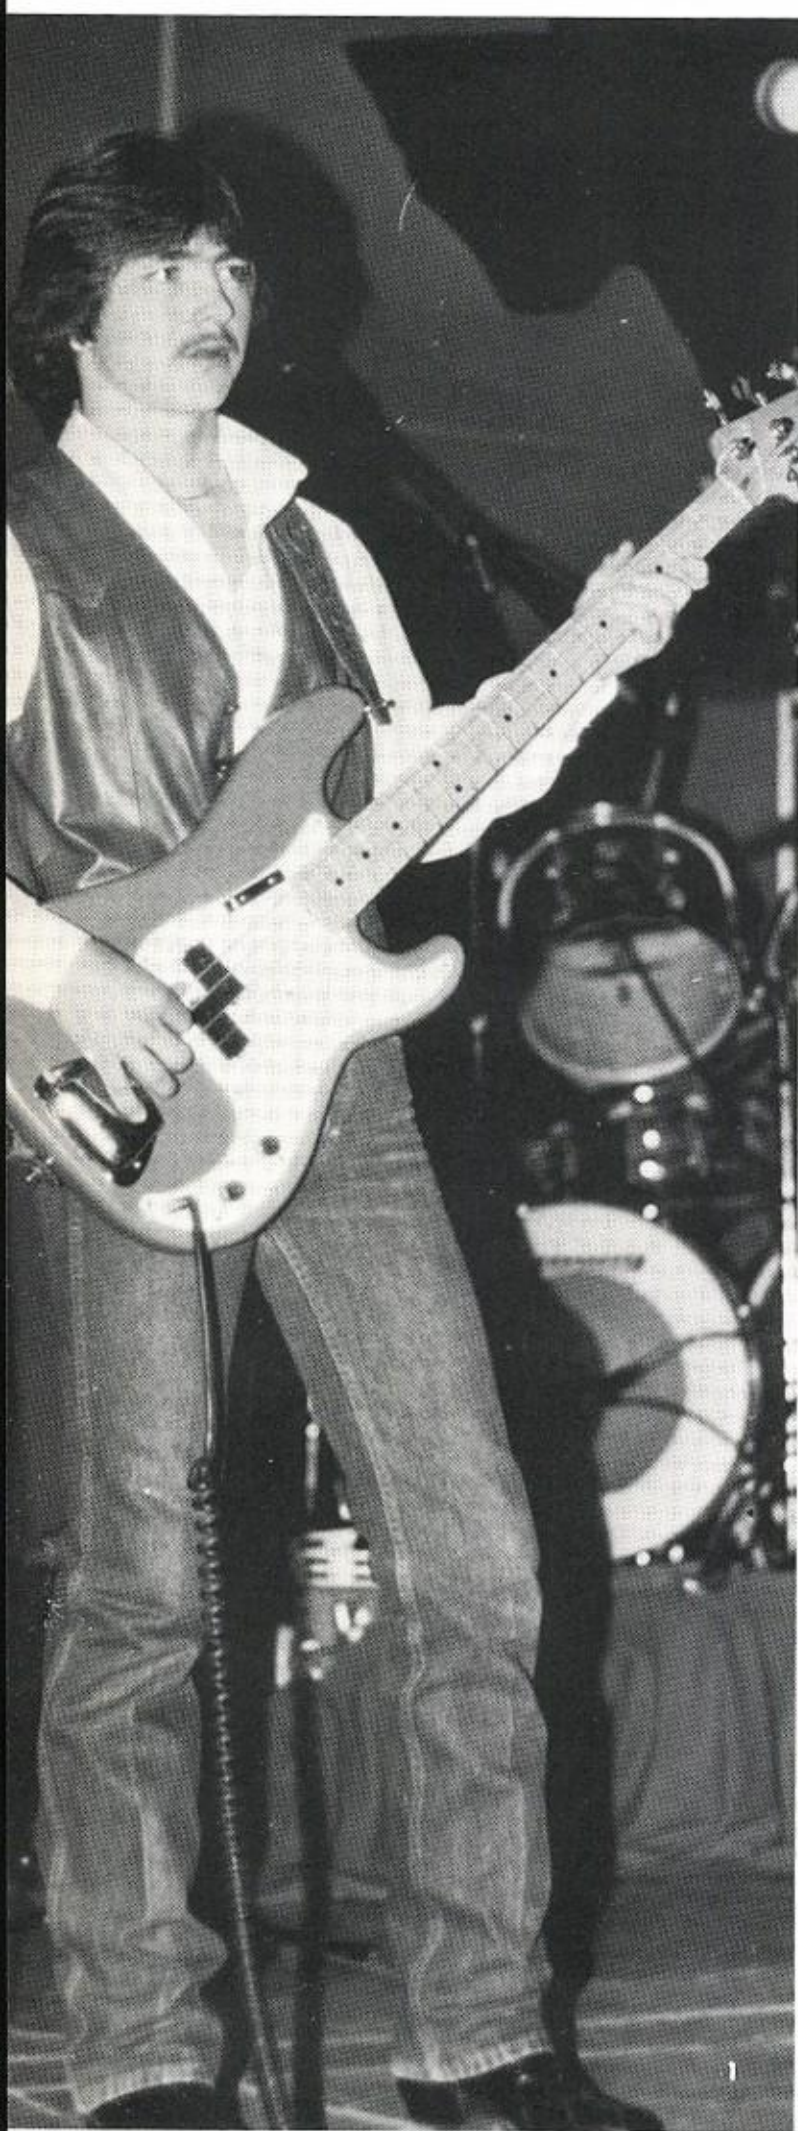

1. Freshman Krista Olin, tired, but still going on, completes her homework in the library. 2. FFA Sponsor, Mr. Ted Weeaks, grooms a heifer for the upcoming show.

Page 229:

1. Senior Jeree McCarty seems to have drifted off into "never never land" in art class. 2. Barbara Wade calmly explains the hypotenuse of a right triangle to her freshman class. 3. Junior Patricia Richardson ponders over the events of the day.

For As Always, the Growth

Is Destined To Be,

Parties are fun, movies are a way of life, and dates are a natural part of growing up. The American dream is to stay a kid forever, but all of a sudden, we leave behind paper air-planes and spit-wads. Without even knowing it we have passed through a big stage: from adolescence to maturity.

Page 230:

Page 231:

1. The printing class enjoys what is left of the summer while at a watermelon feast. 2. Junior Marlin Constancio, and freshmen Cindy Carr and Mary Montemayor give a model pose for the camera.

These Tough Times Test

With all the exams, book reports and vocabulary words, students always find time to enjoy themselves staying just one step ahead of their studies. It seems hard but the end result was worth waiting for. We passed the test and endurance is all it took.

the "Hot Stuff" of the Soul...

Page 233:

1. Monte Maxwell, senior, masterfully mans the keyboards. 2. "I didn't need that algebra book." Lori Hoelscher, sophomore, seems to say.

Struggling, We Keep the Faith

Not only do we go for it . . . we struggle for it, pray for it and dream about it. And sometimes after the plans are laid and the work carried out . . . we get it!

That Keeps Us Moving On...

Page 234:

1. Senior Sheila Dickey seems to be asking herself, "When will I make it to the top?" 2. Drew Whipple, junior, enjoys his toothpick after his Big Mac. 3. Cindy Hembree, senior, prepares her heifer for showing.

Page 235:

1. Chieftain Editors Gloria Sanchez, Sylvia Sanchez, Debbie Huff, Jerri Snider and Pam Collons finish up last minute details on the yearbook.

We have found our three years on the CHIEFTAIN Staff to be an experience that neither one of us will forget. Our deepest appreciation goes to Janie DeLaney, our sponsor, advisor, and friend who has given us the "experience to experience" learning and doing that which many other students will never have a chance to know. So Mrs. DeLaney, THANK YOU... yet you deserve so much more than thanks.

Now comes the time to say our last good byes. We leave hoping that this year has been a year in which each of you have gained something from the meaning that we tried to get through this yearbook: Don't hold back your dreams and ambitions keep on moving... GO FOR IT!

Good bye and good luck,

Gloria Sanchez
Debbie Huff
